THE CRYSTAL PALACE FIRE.

Important Testimony as to its Origin.

Affidavits of Managers, the Agent, Secretary and Superintendent, Exhibitors, Visitors, &c.

Report of the Managers' Committee of Investigation.

CHARGES OF CULPABLE CARELESSNESS DISPOSED OF

The American Institute Decline to Re-open the Exhibition.

The Exhibitors Propose a Fair of Their Own.

The workmen engaged by the City authorities to complete the demolition of the Crystal Palace, and put the grounds in a safe condition for the reception of the exhibitors at the late Fair, were employed all day yesterday at their task, and at dark only two of the eight large iron towers that supported the structure, were left standing. A large crowd of spectators were on hand to witness the final destruction. The workmen will complete their labors to day, and on Monday morning the American Institute will take possession of the grounds, and exhibitors will be admitted to search for their relics.

MEETING OF MANAGERS OF THE FAIR.

A meeting of the Managers of the Fair was held yesterday at 2 o'clock, in the American Institute Rooms—Mr. Geissenhainer in the Chair. Mr. Bunting, from the Special Committee to inquire where a suitable location could be obtained to continue the Exhibition, reported that a building at the corner of Elm and Canal streets, could be procured for three months for $3,000. After debate, it was moved by Mr. Whitney that it is inexpedient to attempt a continuance of the Exhibition this year.

Mr. Jaques urged the importance of continuing it; but finally it was agreed to give up the project; the limited time, the great expense, the doubtful service that so incomplete an Exhibition would be to exhibitors, out-weighing the arguments in favor of the continuance.

MEETING OF THE EXHIBITORS.

The adjourned meeting of the exhibitors at the late Fair, was held at the Murray Hill House, at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, to hear the report of the Committee appointed to confer with the Committee of the American Institute relative to procuring a building in which to continue the Exhibition. There were about three hundred persons present. Mr. E. S. Johnson, of this City, in behalf of the Committee, reported that they had just had an interview with the Chairman of the Committee representing the American Institute, who stated that he had called upon the owner of the Canal-street building, and that his charge for the rent of the same for three months, was $3,800 without steam; that the additional expense of steam would be $20 per day; that the Institute were without the requisite funds to continue the exhibition at such an expense; and that in consideration of this fact, and also of the lateness of the season, they had come to the conclusion, much to their regret, that it was inexpedient to attempt to renew the Fair this season.

Mr. Johnson also reported that the Exhibitors' Committee had bad been shabbily treated by the Institute the night previous, having been invited to attend the meeting of the Institute, and, on their arrival at the place designated, refused admittance. In justice to the Institute, however, he would say that the refusal was made by members who were not aware of the invitation that had been extended to them by the Committee of the Board of Managers. Mr. Johnson further reported that the Committee had waited upon Geo. Law, in reference to his offer of the free use of the building corner of Eighth-avenue and Thirtieth-street, and were informed by him that he had made no such offer, and was not aware that it had been made. Upon the Committee producing the letter of Alderman Charlick, Mr. Law said it was all right, and that the words of the letter should be strictly complied with. [We are requested to state that the letter above referred to, and which appeared in yesterday's Times, was written by Alderman Charlick, not as the Secretary of Geo. Law, but as sole Superintendent of the Eighth-avenue Railroad, whose property the building is.] In conclusion, Mr. Johnson said it was apparent that the exhibitors could not expect any further assistance or coöperation from the American Institute, and they must now act for themselves.

Dr. Kinne, of this City, said that the courage of the American Institute, and their devotion to the interests of the exhibitors had all leaked out, and hereafter, and for all future time, they would endeavor to look out for themselves. The first question was should the Exhibition continue. This should be decided immediately. It was well to understand at the outset that a respectable exhibition could not be got up without the sinews of war, which was cash. A daily expenditure of money would become necessary from the moment the undertaking commenced. Exhibitors should weigh well the subject, and if they determined to go on should be willing to back up their determination with "material aid." He was of opinion that if an independent movement was now started by the exhibitors it would become a permanent thing. Exhibitors representing fifteen States were now in the City, and if they only acted in a body they might lay the foundations of an institution that would render them forever independent of the American Institute.

Mr. Coons, of New-York, thought this was not the time for any action looking to the establishment of a separate and permanent institution; the meeting was not called for that purpose, and no notice had been given of any such intended movement. In a matter of this importance, he thought the exhibitors should be more fully represented.

Mr. Field, of Delaware, was in favor of continuing the exhibition, and was willing to stay in the City all Winter, if necessary, for that purpose. They had been cast off by the Institute, and should now look out for themselves.

Jean F. Rinck, a German, was in favor of reviving the exhibition and was confident they would find ample assistance in the generosity of the citizens of New-York. If not, there were other cities where they would be welcomed with open arms. For himself, he was not cast down nor disheartened, although he lost in the late fire all he possessed in the world, and the fruit of eleven years of unremitting study and toil now lay buried in yonder smouldering ruins. He was ready to begin again, and he hoped they would all manifest a like spirit.

Dr. Kinne said he had in his possession some resolutions that had been prepared by the Committee, in anticipation of the action of the American Institute, and which he begged leave to present for the consideration of the meeting. He then read the resolutions, as follows:

Whereas, We, the inventors and exhibitors at the Thirtieth Annual Fair of the American Institute, have made every fair and honorable proposition that we could suggest for the purpose of continuing the present Fair under the auspices of the American Institute, promising on our part to duplicate the articles which we had on exhibition at the moment of the destruction of the Crystal Palace, and have besides sought out a building suited to such exhibition in the City, for the use of the said Institute; and whereas, after all this effort on our part in their behalf, they have deemed it inexpedient to continue said Fair; be it, therefore,

Resolved, That we, the Inventors and Exhibitors, will continue the Fair under our own management and direction.

Resolved, That we, as inventors and exhibitors, apply to the Legislature of the State of New-York for a charter to carry on successfully our great cause of improvement forthwith.

Resolved, That we, as inventors and exhibitors, accept the very kind offer of Mr. Geo. Law, and that we will forthwith proceed to make the necessary arrangements for the opening of the Fair at the very earliest day.

Resolved, That all manufacturers, artists and inventors throughout the United States, be invited to furnish specimens of their products, skill, and inventions to the Exhibition herein contemplated, and that they report by letter or otherwise to the proper officer to be appointed, the kind and character of goods, specimens and inventions that they will contribute to the coming Exhibition.

Resolved, That the City papers of New-York be politely requested to publish the foregoing resolutions, and that all other conductors of papers throughout the Union be in like manner respectfully requested to republish the said resolutions, and thus help their countrymen at a moment when they have been discouraged by the ravages of fire.

Mr. Coons repeated that the whole proceedings were out of order, that exhibitors had not been notified of the movement, and it was improper to take such an important step without first ascertaining their wishes. He saw many faces about him now urging on this movement, who, in less than three weeks, would say that he was right and they were wrong.

Mr. Rikes, of this City, was in favor of the movement—the Institute had disregarded the wishes of the exhibitors, and treated them with neglect, not to say contempt. On the morning after the fire he went to the ruins, and could only gain admittance to the inclosure by delivering up to the agent the ticket he held from the Institute, thus parting with the only evidence he had of the goods that had been intrusted to their care. He remonstrated against such action at the time, but to no purpose. The next day the Institute delivered over the property into the hands of the City, and to-day the exhibitors had had the pleasure of seeing their property still further crushed by the falling ruins. The American Institute had grown up to its present collossal magnitude from the contributions of American genius and labor. They had ample funds in their possession to continue this Exhibition, but were not willing to offer this poor compensation to the exhibitors, many of whom had lost their all by this calamity. It was time American genius dissolved its connection with such a body, and took an independent stand of its own.

A gentleman from Maine suggested that the meeting had better devote their time to the question of continuing the present Fair, instead of organizing a new Institution, which, in the imagination of some speakers, was to outlive Father Time. He had not come to the meeting for any such purpose. He had exhibited at the late Fair a couple of machines, which were lost, but he was ready to replace them, if the Fair was continued; but this was not the time to project a new organization to take the place of the American Institute.

After some further discussion, the resolutions were submitted to a vote, and adopted, nem. con.

Resolutions of thanks were subsequently tendered to George Law and Alderman Charlick, for the generous offer contained in the letter of the latter, and a Committee appointed to wait upon those gentlemen and inform them of the acceptance of the offer.

Dr. Kinne then read the names of the persons who had been suggested for permanent officers of the organization, at the head of whom was the name of George Law, for President, and a Mr. Dey, for Vice-President.

The names were received with enthusiastic approval by the meeting, but no definite action was taken by the meeting. It was also suggested that the title of the new Institution be "The American Union, for the Exhibition of Arts, Manufactures and Inventions of the United States."

This was also received with favor.

After some further informal speech-making, the meeting adjourned to meet at 12 o'clock, to-day, at the Dépôt of the Eighth-avenue Railroad, corner of Fifty-third-street and Eighth-avenue, where all Exhibitors of the late Fair, and others interested in the movement, are invited to attend.

THE MANAGERS' INVESTIGATION AS TO THE ORIGIN OF THE CRYSTAL PALACE FIRE.

The Committee appointed by the Board of Managers of the thirtieth Annual Fair of the American Institute, at a meeting held in the Library of the Institute on Wednesday Oct. 6, 1858, to "inquire into the origin of the fire by which the Crystal Palace was destroyed on the afternoon of Tuesday, Oct. 5, 1858, and the circumstances attending the same," have been in session during the last three days at Wand's Hotel, corner of Sixth-avenue and Fortieth-street.

In the discharge of the duty intrusted to them, the Committee proceeded to take the testimony of the officers, members, clerks and employes of the Board, and of exhibitors and visitors at the Fair, as follows:

TESTIMONY OF WM. B. LEONARD, AGENT.

William B. Leonard, being duly sworn, deposed as follows: I reside in the City of New-York, and am Corresponding Secretary and Agent of the American Institute, and, as such, had charge under the Board of Managers of the Thirtieth Annual Fair of the Institute; there were eight floor clerks, twelve policemen, and about twelve laborers employed at the Crystal Palace during the Fair; I was familiar with the construction and arrangement of the building during the World's Fair and every fair since held therein; I was present in the Crystal Palace on the afternoon of Tuesday. October 5, 1858; I was standing in the middle of the south nave of the Palace, about half way between the dome and the south entrance, at about five o'clock in the afternoon of that day, in conversation with several of the managers of the Fair; on turning to go towards the fountain which is under the dome, I discovered a fire about the size of a flour-barrel on the east side of the north vestibule; I immediately gave the alarm; the fire expanded instantaneously and burst through the door leading from the vestibule into the main building, and ascended through the gallery floor into the gallery and communicated with various articles of cabinet furniture on exhibition there; I then at once went in pursuit of William O'Gorman, who is in charge of the fire apparatus of the building, and to secure valuable property in the office of the managers, but was unable to return to the immediate scene of the fire by the rush of visitors towards the main or west entrance of the Palace, which the managers' room adjoins on the south; the seasoned wooden patterns used originally in making the castings from, with which the building was constructed, which were numerous enough to fill a room twenty feet square and twenty feet high, were stored in an inclosed room, constituting the north vestibule of the building; they had been stored there during the Receivership of John H. White, Esq., the receiver of the property of the Crystal Palace Association; it had been desired to open the north entrance for the purposes of the Fair, but the idea was abandoned in consequence of the room being so occupied; the door leading into this room from without was at least seventy feet from the iron railing inclosing the building, and was kept fastened; this entrance was, I think, never used during the present Fair; the door leading from this room into the Palace was also kept fastened; no fire was used in the building within two hundred feet of this apartment during the past week; the Machine Arcade is two hundred feet from this room, and the ranges used for cooking for the restaurant were at least four hundred feet, and the only fires used in the building were in the furnace of an engine at the extreme southern end of the Palace, in the stove of the Managers' office at the extreme west end, the fire in Ericsson's caloric engine in the centre of the east nave, and those in the engine furnaces in the Machine Arcade; from the time when the fire was first seen by me, not more than fifteen minutes elapsed before the dome fell in, and nearly the entire building was enveloped in flames; and in consequence of the extreme rapidity with which the flames spread, it was impossible to remove articles of any magnitude; I looked at my watch when the entire building had been consumed except the north end of the Machine Arcade, and found it was half-past five o'clock P. M., and I first noticed the fire at a little after five o'clock. At this time no gas had been lighted in the building, and I believe had not been turned on from the mains; every precaution had been taken by myself and the management of the Fair to prevent fire, and I know of no cause arising within the Palace to which the fire can be attributed.

W. B. LEONARD.

TESTIMONY OF JOHN V. BROWER, A MANAGER.

John V. Brower, being duly sworn, deposes as follows: I reside in Jersey-City, N. J.; I am one of the Managers of the Thirtieth Annual Fair of the American Institute; I was present in the Crystal Palace in the discharge of my duties as manager on the afternoon of October 5, 1858; I was standing in the South nave of the Palace, near the Fortieth-street door, at about five o'clock in the afternoon of that day, in conversation with several of the other managers; I was facing the north and saw a flash in the Forty-second-street lobby; I immediately exclaimed what's that, fire? I then ran to the hydrant, which is at the West side of the north lobby, and the hose being already attached, turned on the water immediately; by this time the flames had entered the main building through the glass door, and had reached the gallery; the head of water in the hydrant was not sufficient to send it more than half-way up to the gallery of the building; as soon as the flames reached the gallery I expressed the conviction that the fire could not be extinguished and left to assist visitors in escaping from the building; after a very few minutes I went to the Clerk's office, near the Fortieth-street entrance, and assisted in entering that office, (which had been locked,) and in removing the chest containing the record-books, and other similar property of the Institute; when I went out of the Fortieth-street door I could see no persons then left in the building; the casing of the door was then on fire.

JOHN V. BROWER.

TESTIMONY OF THOMAS L. DEVOE.

Thomas L. Devoe, of the City of New-York, being duly sworn, deposed as follows: I am one of the Managers of the Thirtieth Annual Fair of the American Institute; I was in the Crystal Palace on the 5th October inst., engaged in receiving goods from half-past three until five P. M.; at about five P. M. I was sitting at the Fortieth-street entrance, facing the north end of the Palace, and could see the whole length of the building from north to south; I saw the Managers standing in the south nave near the statue of Washington, conversing together, and joined them; as I joined them, I happened to look at my watch, and found it was three minutes after five o'clock P. M.; within three to five minutes after, Mr. Geissenhainer, the Chairman, directed my attention to a fire apparently just making itself visible through the glass windows of the lower story at the north end; the flame seemed eight or ten feet high and as many wide, and the fire appeared to be on the right-hand side of the north entrance, as the spectator looked north; I at once endeavored to quiet the visitors, who manifested alarm; I then approached the north entrance, and found that the flames had broken into the main building, and seemed to come from a heap of rubbish lying in a recess or vestibule partitioned off from the main building, on the east side of the north entrance; I assisted in arranging the hose, but the water, on being turned on, was found insufficient to reach within ten feet of the main gallery; by the time the water was turned on the flames had extended twenty feet from the north vestibule, creeping along under the boards of the gallery floor at least half as swiftly as a man can walk; I am acquainted with the arrangements adopted at the Palace for preventing and extinguishing fire; there were, I believe, about eight hydrants in the building, to which hose were kept attached, but they were entirely ineffective, in consequence of the want of head of water; the dome fell in within about twelve minutes from the time I first discovered the fire; in consequence of the extreme rapidity with which the fire spread, and in consequence of the concourse of visitors passing out, it was impossible to remove many articles from the building; no fire was used in the building to the best of my knowledge within one hundred feet of the place where I first saw the fire; the engine belonging to Mr. John Hecker stood about fifty feet, and at least forty feet from the north vestibule; no fire was used about this engine; it was supplied with steam by a pipe at least one hundred and seventy-five feet long, communicating with a boiler in the Machine Arcade; I know of no cause originating within the Palace to which the fire can be attributed, and I am of opinion that it was the work of incendiaries, perpetrated with the design of stealing articles on exhibition.

THOS. F. DEVOE.

TESTIMONY OF JOHN JOHNSON.

John Johnson, being duly sworn, says—That he is one of the Managers of the American Institute; was present in the Crystal Palace from about ten A. M. till forced to leave, in consequence of the burning of the Palace, on the 5th inst.; that his duties were various; amongst others, had general charge of altering, extending and modifying the pipes for gas, water and steam; and that he had a room on the Forty-second-street side, east of the Institute, set apart for pipes, fitting and tools for convenience of the workmen and exhibitors: and that not to exceed two minutes prior to the discovery of the fire, he was in said room directing the workmen, that some gas fixtures should be immediately got ready and put up, that more light be given to the goods belonging to Mr. Genin, in the gallery, over the east nave; after giving this direction to the workmen, he immediately left said office for the centre of the Palace, and from thence to the Dudgeon Locomotive; having proceeded a short distance, discovered women and children running towards the centre of the building from the north; at this moment discovered the fire, and as quick as thought reached the office before alluded to, there being no fire in this office; then he immediately cried out for water, and aided to uncoil the hose which was attached to the hydrant, and took the end into the office, or near the door; finding the fire to gain headway, and the heat therefrom had broken the glass of the office window, which had up to this time been confined to the outer vestibule in this direction, he pulled down from the window the curtain which was on fire, and put it out; and, with the aid of a gas-pipe, forced the burning mass in the vestibule from the proximity of this window, after which he still endeavored to obtain the water; the young man at the hydrant, with commendable zeal, worked at the hydrant till forced by the fire on all sides to leave his post; at this time he (Mr. Johnson) had to fall back towards the Reservoir, and there, meeting with a number active in obtaining water, aided them till all hope was past; then made for the Sixth-avenue side, and then attempted to gain the gallery to save some property; from the density of the smoke, it was impossible to accomplish the object; in descending his attention was attracted to the case of medals near the door with others, and this case he passed from the building; probably the whole time did not exceed (from the time of the first discovery of the fire till the exit) fifteen to eighteen minutes; he can testify to having met in active duty employes and others making an effort worthy better results.

John Johnson, being further examined, states, in addition to the matters contained in his former affidavit, that he is one of the late firm of John Johnson & Brother, by whom all the gas-pipe in the Crystal Palace when first constructed, and most of the gas-pipe since put in, was placed in the building; I am familiar with all gas arrangements; the pipes are of iron with lead connections; the only other tubes used for gas are the India rubber hose used to supply the central or large chandelier, placed there under the direction of Mr. P. T. Barnum, and short India rubber tubes for the use of the operators of sewing-machines, and connected with gas-cooking apparatus; the India rubber tube or hose used at any point in the building nearest the place where the fire originated, was the hose supplying the central chandelier, distant at least 150 feet from the north vestibule; there were thirty thousand feet of wrought iron gas pipe originally put into the building, and, to my personal knowledge, all the gas-pipe and gas fixtures in the building were in good condition on the 5th of October inst.; there had been a gas pendant in the centre of the north entrance, which was removed about the first of September last, and the pipe plugged under deponent's direction; and there were, to my knowledge, no gas burners at the east or west end of the north vestibule, and the gas from the centre supplying any other than the central pendant in the north vestibule had not, I believe, been turned on he also testifies that as far as the gas was concerned, it was in its usual condition of safety, and that there was no gas used or required in that portion of the edifice where the fire was first discovered.

JOHN JOHNSON,
No. 80 East Seventeenth-street.

TESTIMONY OF PROFESSOR GARVEY.

Benjamin Garvey, of the City of New-York, being sworn, deposes as follows: I am Professor of Mathematic, and was employed in the Crystal Palace under the Board of Managers of the Thirtieth Annual Fair; I was in the Crystal Palace on the 5th of October inst., at five o'clock P. M.; I was in the office at the south end of the building, over the clerk's office, west of the Fortieth-street entrance; at that time I heard the cry of "Fire!" and went out upon the landing in front of the office; I then saw the flames bursting out through the Forty-second-street entrance into the building; I endeavored to quiet the panic among the visitors coming down stairs; supposing I should have time to pack up my books and then save the lenses of the telescope, I proceeded to get my books together, but, by the time I had packed my books, which took barely three minutes, I found, on going to the head of the stairs, that no person could live on the gallery from the denseness of the smoke, and was consequently unable to secure the lenses, which were in the west end of the gallery; I am satisfied that there was no person in the gallery when I went down stairs; by the time I had passed out at the Fortieth-street entrance, on looking back I saw my office already enveloped in flames.

BENJAMIN GARVEY.

TESTIMONY OF WILLIAM O'GORMAN.

William O'Gorman, of the City of New-York, being duly sworn, deposes as follows: I am a machinist; I was engaged in the construction of the Crystal Palace in 1852, and have been employed in the building from that time until its destruction by fire on the afternoon of Tuesday, Oct. 5, 1858; I was employed in putting up the iron work of the building, and I am familiar with the plan of the building, with the manner in which it was originally arranged, and the changes made therein; there were two restaurants connected with the Palace, as originally built, one on the east side near Forty-second-street, and the other on the same side near Fortieth-street; there was a kitchen connected with each restaurant containing cooking ranges, and these cooking ranges were in use during the whole time of the World's Fair; the kitchen at the north restaurant was discontinued during the past Fall, and the cooking ranges were removed about the first of August last to the south kitchen, and only one kitchen has been in use during the Thirtieth Annual Fair, which is the one on Fortieth-street; there were seventeen hydrants in the Crystal Palace, which were under my charge during the present Fair; I knew the condition in which they were; they were ready for use; I frequently had occasion to use them; there were fourteen lengths of hose, each of about fifty feet, one of which was kept coiled near each hydrant, ready to be attached, and a wrench in each hydrant; I never knew it to be the case that there was sufficient head of water to send it more than three feet above the gallery, and generally it was not sufficient to reach it; it fell three or four feet short of the gallery; the water was about the same as usual in the afternoon of the fire; the force of water was entirely insufficient to reach the flames when discovered; I was in the Crystal Palace on the afternoon of Tuesday, Oct. 5, 1858; I was in office No. 12, at the east side of the south entrance on Fortieth-street, at five minutes before five o'clock P. M.; I was then in the act of turning on the gas for the evening; I had charge of the gas and gas-pipes of the building; I turned it on, heard an alarm, ran out to see where it was, and seeing the smoke, ran back and shut it all off from the metres; I then went to my office near the managers' room, at the Sixth-avenue entrance, procured two hydrant wrenches and nozzle for the hose, and ran to where I saw the people running from; met Mr. John Johnson, one of the managers, to whom I handed the nozzle which he screwed on one hydrant, and I attached a length of hose to another hydrant then I saw two small children, unaccompanied, standing crying on the platform half way down the staircase, at the northeast corner of the north nave, about twelve feet from the place where the fire began; the fire was above them and below them; their hats were on fire; I took one under each arm, had a hydrant wrench in each hand, and conducted them to the Sixth-avenue entrance; I noticed three hydrants with hose attached and the water turned on, but it only reached a height of some sixteen feet; when I first saw the fire it was breaking out of the store room, in which the wooden patterns were deposited, in the porch under the balcony, at the north end of the Palace; the patterns had been used in the construction of the Palace to make the iron castings from; they were extremely light, thin and dry; they were placed there by myself and others, by direction of Mr. Batchelder, Assistant-Superintendent of the World's Fair, over three years ago, and before the American Institute ever held a Fair in the building; there were also several empty boxes, and at the Twenty-ninth Annual Fair, one large mowing machine, a quantity of empty oil lamps, broken gas lamps, two empty paint barrels, and an empty oil barrel, three turnstiles, and a few pieces of old boards; there were two piles of patterns; one at the east, the other at the west end of the vestibule; and there was a passage-way partitioned off between them, leading from the inner door opening into the Palace, to the door opening upon Forty-second-street; the outside door was kept locked and I also put a large staple and bolt upon it by order of Mr. Leonard, the Corresponding Secretary and agent; the floors of the building were all of pitch pine, and the gallery floors were all varnished on the lower side, and in consequence of the extreme dryness of the floorings and the varnish upon them, the flames spread with extreme rapidity; I know of no cause of fire within the Palace, by which the conflagration can be accounted for; I believe it was not caused by any act or omission of the Managers or any person employed by them at the Palace. In consequence of the rapidity with which the flames spread, there was no time to remove any articles from the building after the visitors had escaped; I lost everything in the building belonging to myself, except the clothes I wore, including all my tools and wearing apparel.

WM. O'GORMAN.

TESTIMONY OF EMPLOYEES.

James E. Thorp, E. Wenman, Moses Smith, Jacob Smith and Edward Read, of the City of New-York; A. J. Trippe, of Jersey City, N. J., and Andrew S. Fuller and Thomas Cavanach, of the city of Brooklyn, N. Y., being severally duly sworn, depose and say, they were employed by the Board of Managers of the Thirtieth Annual Fair at the Crystal Palace; they were present on duty at the Palace on the afternoon of October 5, 1858; the said A. J. Trippe had charge of the southwest section of the gallery, the said E. Wenman of the northwest section of the gallery, the said Edward Read of the northeast section of the lower floor, said Moses Smith had charge of the of the agricultural implements in the southwest section of the lower floor, the said Jacob Smith of the southeast section of of the gallery, the said Andrew S. Fuller of the horticultural department in the southwest section, and the said Thomas Cavanach, also of the horticultural department; and deponents further severally say, that they were each stationed in his appropriate section at five o'clock P. M. on the 5th of October instant, except said Moses Smith, who says he was standing near the orchestra, in the centre of the building; they further severally say, that, to the best of their recollection and belief, the fire was first seen by them at the north end of the Palace, and the flames seemed to issue from the entrance under the balcony, at the north end; the flames spread with great rapidity; the dome fell in within fifteen minutes after the fire was first seen by deponents; the fire was so rapid that there was very little time to save any articles of magnitude or value after visitors had passed out of the building; they further say, that they know of no cause arising within the Crystal Palace to which the fire can be attributed, and that the same was in no way owing to any act or omission of theirs or either of them; and the said Thomas Cavanagh says that he was in the small room adjoining the west end of the vestibule on Forty-second-street, about five minutes before the fire broke out; there is a door leading from the vestibule into said room, and there are two other doors opening from said vestibule; one into the main building, and the easternmost one into a small room corresponding with the one into which deponent went, adjoining the vestibule on the east end; the wooden patterns of the castings of the Palace were piled up in the vestibule against the door leading from it into the two small rooms, so as to prevent any passage through them; I saw no other article, in the vestibule except a few empty boxes, several agricultural implements, a little straw from packing-boxes; I took particular notice of the central door leading from the vestibule into the main building at the time I went to the small room adjoining it five minutes before the fire broke out, and noticed that it was at that time fastened by a stick running through the two handles of the sliding door; there was but one door—a double door—leading from without into the vestibule, which was usually fastened by a bar and hook.

Thomas Cavanach, of the City of Brooklyn, being further sworn, states in addition to the matter set forth in the preceding joint affidavit, that after the fire broke out, as therein stated, he assisted in attaching hose to the hydrant under the northwest staircase; from there he went to the southwest section of the lower floor of the Palace; from thence he went immediately to the small room adjoining the north vestibule on the west side, in order to save several articles of wearing apparel left there; when he entered the room there was no fire in it; the glass had not been broken; he saw the flames through the windows on the east side of the room, and the fire was spreading from the east end of the vestibule, and the small east room adjoining, into the gallery.

TESTIMONY OF FLOOR CLERKS.

Benjamin L. Arnold and Francis H. Bacon, of the City of New-York, being severally duly sworn, depose and say as follows: We were Floor-Clerks employed by the Managers of the Thirteenth Annual Fair at the Crystal Palace, and had charge, the former of the northwest section of the lower floor, and the latter of the northeast section of the gallery. We have read the statement sworn to by E. Wenman, Moses Smith, and others, in relation to the fire by which the Crystal Palace was destroyed on the afternoon of the 5th of October, 1858, and the same is correct as we verily believe; we were in the Palace, stationed on our respective sections, at the time the fire broke out. We know of no cause arising in the building to which the fire can be attributed, and the same was in no way owing to any act or omission of ourselves or either of us.

Wm. H. Wilcox, of the City of New-York, being duly sworn, deposes as follows: I was employed as a floor Clerk in the Crystal Palace during the Thirtieth Annual Fair of the American Institute; and had charge of the southeast section of the lower floor; I was present in the Crystal Palace on the afternoon of October 5, 1858; I was standing near the south nave, at my post, at about five o'clock, and saw a fire on the north end of the building; I remained at my post, supposing the fire would be extinguished, and endeavored to quiet the fear of visitors; I know of no cause to which the fire can be attributed.

TESTIMONY OF SUPERINTENDENT JOHN B. HATHAWAY.

John B. Hathaway, of the City of New-York, being duly sworn, deposes as follows: I am in the employment of the American Institute, and have acted as Superintendent at the Crystal Palace during the Thirtieth Annual Fair; I have been in charge of the Crystal Palace building, and have lodged therein during the last year; the building has been in possession of the American Institute since the 15th of June last; previous thereto and after the 1st of June last, the building was in possession of the City Authorities from the 1st of May to the 1st of June last; it was in the possession of John H. White, Esq., as Receiver; I am familiar with the internal arrangements of the building during this period; the vestibule at the north entrance projected from the main building and was one story high; it was inclosed with glass on the northeast and west side; this inclosed vestibule was used for the storage of the wooden patterns used in working the iron castings for the Crystal Palace; they were placed there, as I believe, previous to the holding of the Twenty-seventh Annual Fair at the Crystal Palace in 1855; no other articles were placed in this vestibule, except two barrels of fertilizing preparations which were stored there after the Twenty-ninth Annual Fair, and some broken plaster casts, and the iron frames of several lamps from the Palace railing; from 3 to 5 o'clock on the afternoon of Tuesday, the 5th inst., I was in room No. 15, in the Crystal Palace, on the east side of the Fortieth-street entrance; at 5 o'clock I left my room, and when about half-way between the fountain and the Manager's office, at the west end of the Palace, I saw an excitement indicated by the rushing of visitors towards the west door, and hastened back to the fountain and saw flames issuing from the middle of the north vestibule; I immediately procured a nozzle and wrench which I kept constantly ready for use in my room; I attached hose to a hydrant near the centre of the Palace, in the rear of the stand of Tiffany & Co., and turned on the full force of the hydrant; the head of water was not sufficient to readily expand the hose to its full extent; the flames extended so rapidly that it was impossible to make any impression upon them; the dome fell in within, as I believe, twelve minutes from the time when I first saw the fire; as Superintendent, it was my duty to see that the floor clerks, policemen and laborers were on duty in the morning and during the day; there were nine floor clerks, besides those in the horticultural department, and four policemen, employed during the day; they were all, to the best of my belief, on duty at their posts at the Palace on the afternoon of Tuesday, the 5th inst., at the time of the fire; the fire is not, in my opinion, attributable to any accidental cause, or any cause arising within the Crystal Palace; I believe it the work of an incendiary; the north vestibule was at least fifty feet wide, from east to west, and about seventy-five feet deep; the patterns and other articles stored in the vestibule were placed in two parcels, one at the west, the other at the east end of the vestibule; there was a passage between them across the vestibule at least ten feet wide, with a board fence on each side, inclosing the patterns, four boards or about five feet high; these fences were put up on or about the 1st of September last, by the carpenters employed by the City authorities in arranging for the Cable Celebration; the patterns had been stored there during all the period while I was connected with the Crystal Palace, and were piled up and in part rested against the wooden screen or partition, about fifteen feet high on the south side of the vestibule; the broken plaster casts or busts, and the two barrels of fertilizer, had been stored in the east end of the vestibule ever since the Twenty-ninth Annual Fair, held at the Palace in 1857; the casts stood near the north side of the vestibule, and the barrels near the board partition put up by the City carpenters, and were covered, I believe, by several boxes on and about them; the only gutta-percha tubes used for conveyance of gas in the Crystal Palace were the tubes connected with the central chandelier, placed there before the first Fair held there by the American Institute, and possibly a few gutta-percha connections for the convenience of the operation of sewing machines, on the southeast section of the gallery; I recall no other fact or circumstance tending to throw light upon the origin of the fire by which the Crystal Palace was destroyed.

JNO. B. HATHAWAY.

TESTIMONY OF EDWARD S. JOHNSON, AN EXHIBITOR.

Captain Edward S. Johnson, of the City of New-York, being duly sworn, deposes as follows: I had charge, in behalf of the Gutta Percha Life-Boat Company, of their life boat on exhibition at the Crystal Palace, at the Thirtieth Annual Fair of the American Institute; I was in the Clerk's office on the west side of the south, or Fortieth-street entrance of the Palace at five o'clock in the afternoon of Tuesday, Oct. 5, 1858; I heard an alarm of fire, and immediately left the office, came out into the nave leading from Fortieth to Forty-second-street; I saw the fire through the glass of the north end of the building about the size of a barrel; I walked along beyond the music stand, in the centre of the building, and discovered the attaches of the Palace had attached a hose and turned on the water, and had begun to play; I saw the stream of water; it reached about half way up to the gallery floor; there was not force enough in consequence of want of head of water to make it reach the fire; I then made up my mind that the building must go; I then turned my attention to the life-boat in my charge; I found it was impossible to get it out from want of assistance. I got out the flags, and in so doing got my hand badly burned, but saved the flags; I then retreated from the boat and watched the progress of the fire, and as the flames spread, the melted glass, running upon the floor, fired the floor where it dropped; I was within a few feet from the dome when it fell; the dome fell within twenty minutes, and the entire building was destroyed within thirty minutes, as I think, from the time when I first saw the fire; there was not time to save any article of magnitude after allowing opportunity for visitors to escape; so far as my observation went, every manager, clerk and employe did his duty fully and faithfully in the emergency; the fire is not, in my opinion, attributable to any cause originating in the Palace, and I believe it the work of an incendiary.

TESTIMONY OF JOHN SPRINGSTEEN, A VISITOR.

John Springsteen, of the City of New-York, being duly sworn, deposed as follows: I reside in Sixth-avenue, between Forty-fourth and Forty-fifth streets: I visited the Crystal Palace, in company with several friends, on the afternoon of Oct. 5, 1858; at about five o'clock P. M. my friends and myself were sitting in the northeast gallery, about eight feet from the north end of the building; I heard an alarm, and saw commotion among the visitors; there were not more than twenty or thirty persons in the gallery where I was; in two or three minutes after hearing the alarm I turned towards Forty-second-street and the north end of the building, and saw smoke issuing through the floor, apparently from the outside, and then instantaneously burst through in a volume, with a suddenness like that of a gunpowder explosion; I started from the building at the Fortieth-street entrance.

TESTIMONY OF JAMES M. SUTHERLAND, AN EXHIBITOR.

James M. Sutherland, of the City of New-York, being duly sworn, deposed as follows: I reside at No. 774 Washington-street; I had charge, as agent of Messrs. Cole & Carr, of their milk wagon and milk, on exhibition at the Crystal Palace, during the Thirtieth Annual Fair; the wagon stood second from the north door of the Palace, and about fifteen feet therefrom; at five o'clock in the afternoon of Oct. 5, 1858, I was sitting on the whiffle-tree of the wagon, conversing with Mr. C. J. Merrill, of this City; at about ten minutes past five, as we rose from the wagon and turned round facing the north end, we noticed fire through the glass door in the centre of the north end of the building; the flames appeared to proceed from the right-hand side of the entrance as you look north; the fire when I first saw it was about the size of a man's body; I stooped down to lift up the shafts of the wagon, and as I raised up, and looked, the whole north end of the nave of the building below the gallery was enveloped in flame; this occurred within a minute; and from the denseness of the smoke and the suddenness of the flame, I inferred that turpentine or some other inflammable matter was burning; I drew my wagon across the floor, to the south entrance, where there was a great concourse of visitors; the south doors were closed; we immediately forced them open, and the crowd passed out with facility; I saw hose attached to two of the hydrants, and the water directed upon the fire, but the force of water was insufficient to make any impression; the fire, judging from all that I saw, was the work of an incendiary.

STATEMENT OF JOHN W. CHAMBERS.

John W. Chambers, of the city of Brooklyn, being duly sworn, deposed as follows: I am Secretary of the Board of Managers of the Thirtieth Annual Fair of the Amerìcan Institute, and was in daily attendance at the Crystal Palace in the discharge of my duties from the 15th September last until the 5th October, 1858; I was in the Crystal Palace on that day at five o'clock P. M., and was standing near the equestrian statue of Washington, on the south nave, in conversation with a number of the managers; I observed a flash of light apparently behind the glass panes composing the end of the north nave; immediately afterwards red flames and dark smoke penetrated into the main building, under the gallery; I immediately made my way to a hydrant in the centre of the building, and found Mr. Hathaway, the Superintendent, in the act of turning the water on, the hose having been attached; but found we could get no head of water sufficient to reach the gallery; three or four minutes after I first saw the light, the flames had begun to encircle the gallery around the dome, and I hastened to my office, at the west side of the south entrance, in the hopes of saving my books of entries and accounts, and other papers; I found the door locked, but succeeded in breaking it in with my feet, and was here joined by the two entry clerks, and by two of the managers, Mr. J. V. Brower and Mr. J. C. Baldwin; with their aid part of the books and most of the funds on hand in the office were saved; the fire had made such rapid progress that the room overhead at the extreme end of the building was in flames, and the casings of the doors of my office were smoking; I am familiar with the internal arrangements of the Palace, and have acted as Secretary at all the Fairs held by the Institute at the Crystal Palace; during the presen Fair I had occasion to go three times into the north vestibule of the Palace, once during a heavy rain; I then noticed that the roof of the vestibule was excessively leaky and the rain was entering as through a sieve; I went there in order to see how the vestibule was occupied; it projects entirely beyond the main building, and is entered from it by one central door, covered with baize; the rest of the partition is a wooden wainscot and glass, in sashes; the vestibule is one story high; it was partly filled with patterns used in making the castings of the Palace; they were in two piles, one at the east and one at the west end of the vestibule, some of them nearly reaching from the floor to the roof; there were also several large machines and empty boxes; I saw no inflammable substances in the place; the vestibule was entirely out of use as an entrance, and was the least frequented and most deserted part of the building; no fires, and to the best of my belief, no light of any kind was used in or near the vestibule; the oil and lamp-room for the supply of lanterns used by the night-watch, was east of the gentlemen's saloon, and at least one hundred feet from the vestibule; the fire when I first saw it, was in the east end of the north vestibule; I am unable to account for the fire by any cause originating within the Palace, and from the absence of any other assignable cause, I believe it the work of an incendiary.

JOHN W. CHAMBERS.

Sworn this 8th day of October, 1858, before me.

David R. Jaques, Notary Public.

This completes the testimony taken by the Committee, and forms the substance of the report it will make to the Managers. The Committee consists of the following gentlemen:

D. R. Jaques,	Samuel D. Backus,
John A. Bunting,	F. W. Geissenahiner,
John Johnson,	John W. Chambers,
Thos. F. DeVoe.

ADDITIONAL ITEMS OF LOSS.

The American Steam Music Company lost, by the destruction of their three calliopes, $8,700. They were the finest that the Company ever built.

B. F. Corlies, by a case of blank books, lost $1,000.

The Vegetable Preservative Company, of which Mr. R. Carlton Overton is President, lost their unique collection of fruits dried by an entirely new process, and which they expected the Exhibition to notice with high commendation.

Mr. Abraham Brower lost a length of Corporation fire-hose, upon which he had made successful experiment to prevent leakage. The remainder of his stock was saved.

The patentee of the "cane-umbrella" had a narrow escape at the fire. He was standing near the case containing his goods when the alarm was given. When he saw the rapid progress of the flames, he seized the case and made his way towards one of the doors. On arriving under the dome the fire was already at work there, and the structure had commenced giving way. A piece of iron fell and struck the case which he carried, smashing the glass, and making an opening through which three of the cane-umbrellas were lost. He escaped unharmed with the rest.

James Bailey (Brooklyn) lost, in embroideries, &c., $950.

Enos G. Allen, of Boston, saved, fortunately, his box of steam-gauges—valued at $1,500—some of which were made for the Government. They were received at the Palace on Monday, and had not been unpacked. They were set upon a table over a hogshead of water, which had been sunk for a pump. The table was burned, and the box fell into the water. The only damage will be from water.

BOY FROM ORANGE MISSING.

The Newark Evening Journal is informed that a little boy from Orange, who was on a visit, in company with his parents, on Tuesday afternoon, to the Palace, has not been seen or heard from since the fire which destroyed that building on Tuesday evening, and it is feared he perished in the flames.

Kate Saxon, who formerly played at Burton's Theatre, is acting at the Lyceum Theatre in London, and is favorably spoken of.

The Hon. Horace Mann on the Relation Between Colleges and the People.

Last night, before a large and intelligent audience, the Hon. Horace Mann lectured in Clinton Hall, Astor-Place, on the subject indicated above. The relation that Colleges bore to the people was little less, he said, than that which the brain bore to the rest of the body. Bacon had uttered the maxim that "Knowledge is power," but the practical mind of the present age had formulized the same idea in the proposition that knowledge is government. The College was a fountain of influence; for, though a few men not collegians—men who were fountains in themselves—occasionally rose to high position, yet nine-tenths of all the posts of honor and distinction in the country were filled by collegians. It was they who wrote the books and who made the scientific discoveries. As Plato had said of God that he employed his leisure time in geometrizing, so the great thought of the world geometrizes schemes enduring for all time, and projects the mighty circles which require years to organize into action and history. Though many dunces passed through colleges, yet the brilliant men in all stations were the fruit of judicious College training It had even been said that one set of the College students graduated with ruined health, and the other set with ruined characters; and that now it was proposed to decimate the ranks of women by subjecting them to the same destroying process. There were two classes of young men in college—those who went there, and those who were sent. The one obtained knowledge by intelligent effort; the other, vicariously. There are some young men who, if placed in the garden of Eden, would never have risked their fate by even touching an apple on the tree of knowledge, to say nothing of plucking it. The students in our colleges were an inchoate power of tremendous energy. They bore about a torch which was to enlighten or to consume the habitations of men. The controlling characteristics of a college were impressed upon their graduates. What, then, ought these characteristics to be? First in order, he placed habits of temperance. He regarded the young man trained to control his appetites as already half a hero, half a gentleman and half a Christian. He approved of the Old Testament ideas of fasting, but the true idea of a religious fast was to hold fast when one had enough, and therein hold fast, and wait the fullness of time before indulging in fullness of food. College students ought to be indoctrinated in all the cardinal virtues of life, and disinfected of all the antagonistic vices. Let there be early religion—its spirit, not its dogma—for the fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom. The growth of religion was a vernal growth. Everything should be secluded from a college that was unkind or ungentlemanly. The old English flogging system was a refinement of brutality. What would be thought here of a company of small boys being obliged to wait through a long Winter night in a cold gallery, on the commands of their seniors, run their earands, black their boots, and prepare their exercises under the fear of being cuffed, kicked, occasionally tossed in a blanket, or roasted before a slow fire—outrages which not unfrequently characterized the English flogging system. It was this system which impressed the mind of the English youth with the brutal tendencies exhibited in the Indian War, when graduates of English colleges stood admiringly by whilst men were blown one after another from the mouths of cannons. Another feature of College folly was the habit of playing tricks, or pranks, or practical jokes, as they were called, upon the other students, upon teachers, or upon neighbors living in the vicinity. He who found pleasure in cropping an ass' ears, should remember that his own needed no addition, and ought to be influenced by a more fraternal feeling. Students should acquire no habits in College which might grow into vices in the world. Knowledge was never so powerful as when allied with vice, and Colleges should beware lest their young men should become but brilliant roués, lest the young man who devoted more of his time to Hoyle than to Euclid or more attention to Byron than to the classics, should become a gambler, a rake-hell, a devotee of Bacchus or of Venus, or put himself forward as the advocate of free love, that superfœtation of diabolism on polygamy. He did not want our youth to grow up in such characters as William Congreve or Richard Steele. Three years ago this country was represented at three European Courts by Ministers who were notorious drunkards, and could it be supposed that they had not contracted this habit at College. And it was a fact beyond question, that the Judges who, by their decisions, defeated the efforts of the advocates of Temperance, were men whose discharge of their public functions smelt of their private habits.

The lecturer proceeded to discuss the importance of a moral training on the members of what are known as "the learned professions," and concluded by expressing his satisfaction at the increased regard for the powers and capacities for women which late years have developed in this country, and his hope to find the sphere of female usefulness more largely appreciated, and female talent more approvingly recognized.

Political.

Assembly Nomination in the Third District.—The Republicans of the Third Assembly District met at Riley's Hotel, last evening, and unanimously nominated Henry A. Morgan as the candidate for that District. The Americans met at the same time at the St. Johns Hotel, and made the same nomination.

Eighth Congressional District.—A large number of active and leading Democrats in the Eighth Congressional District have addressed a letter to the Hon. Horace F. Clark, approving of his course in Congress, and requesting him to become a candidate for reëlection, without regard to the corrupt machinery of primary elections. Mr. Clark's reply will be forthcoming in a day or two.

Tammany Report Straightened.

No. 3 State-street,
New-York, Friday, Oct. 8, 1858.

To the Editor of the New-York Times.

There is a mistake in the report published in the Times of this morning relative to the proceedings of the General Committee, which I doubt not is owing to a misapprehension by your reporter of a remark made by me. I had the minutes of the meeting in my own possession, and know my duties too well to allow Mr. Waterbury or any other person than my Associate Secretary to take them; I requested Mr. Waterbury though to hand the Call of the Primary Election to the Agent of the Finance Committee, that the latter might advertise the same, and 'pay the printer."

Shortly after the Committee adjourned I met your reporter, and stated to him in substance the business transacted at our meeting. He expressed a wish to have a list of the inspectors of election furnished him, the time and places of meeting of the various nominating Conventions, &c., details which belonged to and were contained in the "Call" above referred to, which I informed him was the paper Mr. Waterbury had taken.

I would further observe that the Committee did not adjourn in confusion, nor "sadly and in haste;" that no person was accused of being a "disorganizer," and that no disposition was manifested to shirk the discussion of the resolutions introduced by Mr. May. The contrary was the case. The resolutions were introduced when the meeting was nearly spent—there was scarcely a quorum present—and their reference to a Special Committee was in order that an opportunity should be afforded to the members of the Committee in full meeting, to express in language befitting the importance and dignity of the subject, their entire and unbounded confidence in the Administration of James Buchanan, and their unqualified condemnation of recreancy and treachery in whomsoever they may appear, and whatever garb they may assume.

JOHN H. WILLIAMS, Sec'y Gen'l Com.

New Counterfeits.

Office of Gwynne & Day, Bank Note Register,
No. 12 Wall-street.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

A new and very dangerous counterfeit $20 bill purporting to be on the Bank of the State of New-York of this City, has just been put in circulation. The following is a description: The vignette represents an Indian girl seated, leaning her arm on a rock and looking at rail-cars, steamboat and city in the distance. On the right end is an oval picture of a locomotive and the figures 20. It is unlike the genuine, which has two females for vignette.

The above is altered from the bill of some broken Bank, but is extremely well done.

Yours truly, GWYNNE & DAY,

We have also received the following new counterfeits yesterday: Tens on the Merchants' Bank of Albany; vignette is a female seated on a bale of cotton, a spindle at her side and mill in the distance. The figures 10 are on the right side of the vignette. The right end has a medallion head, surrounded by flowers and fruit. The left end has a mechanic's arm holding a hammer surrounded by scroll-work and surmounted by an eagle. This bill is unlike the genuine.

Threes on the Bank of Cape Ann, Mass. The vignette is a female seated and an eagle. On the right lower corner is a man gathering corn. This bill is unlike the genuine.

Police Intelligence.

A New Swindling Dodge.—Two respectable looking men did a very successful swindling business yesterday, in the eastern side of the City, with a $20 gold piece. Their mode of operation was to go into a store and ask change for their gold piece. Bills would be passed to them and they would adroitly extract a bill, then throw back the remaining bills, stating that they wanted smaller gold. The abstraction of the bill would not be noticed until the swindlers were safely away. Several persons complained at the Seventh Ward Station-house, of having been swindled, and a description given of the sharpers, which will doubtless lead to their arrest.

Getting a Winter Stove.—A man, giving his name as Horace Collyer, purchased a Winter stove yesterday, at the store of M. Mowley, No. 526 Grand-street, and gave a worthless check for $10 in payment. He got off safe with the stove and escaped arrest.

Alleged Swindling.—Messrs. Solomon & Co., of No. 213 Washington-street, made a complaint Thursday, against Alex. M. C. Wood, charging him with having obtained from them goods to the value of $238 26, through false representations. The goods, it is alleged, were shipped to San Juan in June last, but were never paid for. The accused was arrested and gave bail before Justice Connolly to answer the charge.

CHRONOLOGY OF COMETS.

The whole world, just now, are more or less excited about comets, and comets are, therefore, a proper subject for journalistic reflections, at a time when DONATI's comet is in full view, and is attracting the attention of savants, professional and amateur, in both hemispheres. It may not be uninteresting to chronicle the appearance of the most remarkable of these erratic bodies.

Comets have been observed by the Chinese for a great number of years. Historians say that the mother of the Emperor YU, being enceinte with this Prince in the year 2296 B. C., saw a wandering star, and drew therefrom a favorable omen. Other stars of a similar character were noticed in the same country about the year 2241. A passage from VARRON, given by Saint AUGUSTIN, refers to the appearance of a comet about the year 1770 B. C. Several authors make mention of another comet visible in 1272 B. C., and of one which appeared in Egypt and Palestine in the year 619. Some commentators pretend that this last was referred to by Jeremiah, when he declared that he had seen "a cauldron blazing towards the north wind."

According to PLINY, a comet, having the shape of a horn, appeared in the heavens during the battle of Salamis. In 871 a burning flame was visible for several nights.

Two comets appeared at the time of the celebrated games, given by AUGUSTUS CÆSAR in honor of Venus. AUGUSTUS then placed on the head of a statue, which he had raised to CÆSAR, a star, and this star afterwards figured on all the monuments erected to the dictator. They can still be seen in some of the coins of that period. According to various savants the comet to which allusion is here made was that spoken of by HOMER in his Illiad, the same which reappeared in 1680, and was the subject of RAYLE's Thoughts on the Comet. It has been calculated that this body will reappear in 2255.

The astronomer PINGRE, who has published very learned historical and scientific researches on comets, speaks of the appearance of one of these stars in the first year of the Christian era. Another comet of which he speaks had the accompaniments that ARISTOTLE and THEOPHRASTUS give to these celestial phenomena—violent and extraordinary tempests. In Achaia and Macedonia several cities were destroyed by earthquakes.

JOSEPHUS, the Historian, includes the appearance of a comet among the miracles which announced the destruction of Jerusalem and the ruin of its temple. Some time before his death, VESPASIAN ridiculed the sinister omens that his attendants drew from the appearance of a comet. "This long-haired star," he said, "does not notice me; it menaces rather the King of the Parthians. It is long-haired and I am bald."

In 389 a comet was observed in Italy and China. Some historians pretend that the misfortunes from which the city of Constantinople suffered about this time, were foretold by the appearance of the most terrible comet mentioned in history, and which had the form of a long sword.

A comet, whose appearance in the year 400, is fixed by PINGRE, was among the prodigies which, according to various writers of the day, announced the disastrous invasion of Italy by ALARIC.

In 539 a comet was noticed which, according to contemporaneous historians, was of the size of a man. It appeared again in 678, at the accession of Pope DIEUDONNE or DIODAT. In 837, LOUIS C. DEBONNAIRE, then reigning, intimated his wish that the author of a work called Vita et Actus Lodovice Pie, who was both astronomer and historian, should pass a night in his palace of Aix-la-Chapelle to observe with him a comet which had appeared in the beginning of April. The superstitious monarch was persuaded that the stars could indicate the death of the great, and he confided his fears to the savant who said, "Fear nothing from the signs in the Heavens." To this the Emperor replied: "I do not fear the signs; I fear the Omnipotent author of them, and this one warns me, without doubt, to prepare for death." A comet was also remarked in 877, the year of the death of CHARLES LE CHAUVE. In October, 942, a comet was visible for twenty-one days, foretold, according to the writers of the time, a great mortality among cattle, and this certainly did occur during the following year.

In 991, the appearance of a celebrated comet, accompanied by a meteor, threw all Europe into consternation. The savant PINGRE thinks that this comet appeared in 1000, or perhaps 1001, at the earliest. Predicted a long time before, it was believed to foretell the end of the world. People everywhere prepared to die a Christian death. Labor, commerce, industry and agriculture were in a state of complete stagnation. Merchandise, which every one wanted to sell, could find no purchasers. The fear of some terrible catastrophe suspended all social relations.

In 1066, the year of the English invasion by WILLIAM THE CONQUEROR, a comet appeared on the 2d of April. It was visible during sixty-five days, and was observed in the East of Europe during the month of May. It was also observed in the West in the early part of the year. The authors, German, Norman, English and French, do not agree upon the length of the appearance of this comet in Europe. This phenomenon gave rise to various conjectures. The partisans of WILLIAM regarded it as a prediction of victory. Upon one portion of the famous tapestry upon which Queen MATILDA had traced the most memorable events of her husband's expedition, there are a group of persons attentively watching this comet, and at the same time there is an inscription which antiquarians have thus read: "Isti mirantur stellam."

In 1208 a very brilliant comet appeared for two weeks. The Jews of the West thought that it foretold the advent of their Messiah. A comet, visible in the Autumn of 1265, alarmed MAINFROI, King of Naples and Sicily, who lost his crown and his life on the 26th of February, 1266. In 1270, the first day of the twelfth month, the largest comet that had ever been seen was observed in Japan. Its tail, says a Japanese writer, was the length of a street.

In 1293 KOUBLAI-KHAN, founder of the Tartar dynasty, alarmed at the appearance of a comet, asked his ministers how Heaven, whom he supposed was angered, could be appeased. A minister, named POUHOUTCHOU, passed the night in the monarch's chamber and read several sacred extracts, and gave him, says the historian GAUBIL, examples from ancient history "to make him understand that the principal object of a prince should be the practice of virtue, and that, to avoid the dangers of eclipses, comets and earthquakes, he should keep his mind pure and govern his people righteously."

Comets appeared in the years 1299, 1301, 1305, 1313, 1315, 1334, 1337, 1341, 1343 and 1317. In 1402 two comets were seen in the greater part of Europe. JEAN GALEAS VISCONTI, Duke of Milan, then dangerously sick and convinced that the phenomenon predicted his death, beseeched his friends to aid him in leaving his bed, and looking at the comet he cried: "I thank God that he has been pleased to announce my death to men by this heavenly sign." He died at Marignan on the 3d of September.

In 1456 a red, angry-looking comet appeared in several countries, and the mathematicians foretold such terrible plagues, pestilences and murders therefrom, that Pope CALIXTUS III. ordered all the faithful to implore the aid of Heaven against the Turks, whose armies then menaced Western Europe.

Comets appeared in 1458, 1468, 1471 and 1472. On the 12th of May, in the year 1500, navigators, en route from Brazil and the Cape of Good Hope, noticed a comet, which was also noticed at the same time in Europe. The writers of the time did not fail to attribute to it all the disasters of this year, fruitful as it was in misfortunes—an irruption of the Tartars into Poland, a famine in Suabia, war carried by France into the Kingdom of Naples.

The historians of Westphalia speak of the comet of 1516, which announced calamities to the town of Munster, and the tyranny of JEAN DE LEYDE. These writers add that they saw at the same time three suns pierced through and through with luminous swords, and that a phantom, its head encircled with a golden crown and sword in hand, traversed the air in full light of day.

Authorities in all parts of Europe considered as a veritable comet the meteor which appeared on the 11th of August, 1516, and which spread universal consternation. It is recorded that a large number of persons died of fright in different countries. The Turkish invasion of Hungary, a bloody war in Switzerland, a pestilence in England, inundations in Holland, and a disastrous earthquake in Portugal were the events believed to have been produced by this sinister object. At that time it was believed in Europe that all the secrets of the future could be learnt from the celestial bodies by those who attentively observed them.

The greatest alarm was created in France by the appearance of a comet in 1521, and by the predictions of astrologers who then, more than ever, excelled in audacity and extravagance. They gave full vent to their imaginations, and Princes even had an entire confidence in the dreams of these impostors and a profound respect for their persons.

We find that in many of the Courts of Europe astrologers were in the personal service of sovereigns. The astrologer of the Elector of Brandebourg, one JEAN CARRION, affirmed that in the year 1525 "there would be a great effusion of blood among the Christians, and grave oppressions by Governments." This same CARRION, a most indefatigable prophet, predicted events to take place in 1789. "Then," said he, "one of the grandest conjunctions will take place, and the tenth regeneration of Saturn will be accomplished; if the world is to last after that, no one except God knows it. Oh! what wonders will then be seen, what changes, and what overturnings of constitutions and Christian ordinances!"

In 1556 there appeared the comet observed and described by PAUL FERRICE, Doctor and Astronomer of Vienna. This large and very brilliant comet so frightened the Emperor CHARLES V., that, persuaded it announced his death, he suddenly resolved to resign his sceptre and employ the life that yet remained to him in exercises of piety and religion. Having, therefore, abdicated the throne in favor of his brother FERDINAND, and having abandoned to his sons his hereditary domains, he retired, with only twelve attendants, to a monastery, situated in the neighborhood of the town of Placentia, on the frontiers of Portugal.

In 1572 there appeared a comet which the learned WILLIAM LANDGRAVE, of Hesse, so intently watched that the news of the burning of his palace, brought by his affrighted domestics, failed to interrupt him in his observations. This comet, says GUY PATIN, disappeared at the death of CHARLES IX, in 1574, after being visible since the massacre of Saint Bartholomew.

In 1657 a comet was visible in Portugal at the time of King SEBASTIEN's expedition to Africa. The war party maintained that the phenomenon predicted the future greatness of the King; others arrived at different conclusions, which they communicated to the King. "No," said he, "I will not change my plans; the comet has appeared to terrify those against whom I shall make war."

In 1664, ALPHONSE VI., King of Portugal, whose extravagancies were the cause of his dethronement in 1667, complained publicly of the misfortunes he suffered from a comet. The comet of 1680 was most famous for the terror that it inspired. NEWTON pretended that after it had approached the sun, this comet would be two thousand times hotter than red hot iron. BAYLE and many other writers published works combatting the superstition upon which the predictions relative to comets were founded, and proving that these heavenly bodies were not dangerous.

In the years 1682, 1683, 1684, 1686, 1689, 1695, 1698 1701, 1733, 1737, 1739, 1744, 1746, 1747, 1748, 1750, 1757, and 1759, comets were visible in different parts of the earth. In 1786 the number of comets known was 81. Others have been observed since, especially in 1793 1804 and 1805. One, which appeared on the 18th of October, 1807, had a tail nine millions of miles in length. The comet of 1811 was observed during a space of seventeen months.

Last year there was a great deal said about the reappearance of the comet of CHARLES V., but the general expectation was not realized.

The comet visible, at the present time from many points of the earth, inspires no terror, for science has dispelled all alarm. Eccentric as the motion of a comet may be, it is still in subjection to immutable law, and cannot swerve, either to the right or the left, from its allotted route. The path of the comet pierces the plane of the orbit of Venus, at a point near the orbit itself, and Venus and the Comet are both approaching this point. Venus will pass it first, about the 12th, and the comet only one week after; but this interval will give ample scope to the latter to pass without collision, its train included, for at the rate at which these travelers on the celestial highways proceed, the first twenty-four and the second thirty-six miles per second, when nearest, on the 18th they will yet be eight or ten millions of miles asunder. If, however, further observation show that the comet's motion is more rapid than supposed above, or the attraction of the planet accelerate its mode of travel, the proximity may be greater. It will be worth while watching the comet at this time, to observe whether it undergoes any marked physical changes.

LAW INTELLIGENCE.

The Case of the Slaver Haidee.

PROGRESS OF THE INVESTIGATION.

Testimony in Relation to the Shipment of her Crew.

Narrative of her Voyage—Shipping and Landing the Negroes, &c.

One of the Prisoners Insane, and in Irons in his Cell.

The Prisoners Indicted by the Grand Jury.

Before United States Commissioner White.

NEW-YORK, Thursday, Oct. 8, 1858.

The United States vs. Macomber and others.—This case, which is a preliminary examination of the allegation that the prisoners were engaged in the Slave-trade on board the ship Haidee, scuttled and sunk off Montauk Point, some time ago, was continued before Commissioner WHITE to-day. The prisoners were all present, in the custody of one of Marshal Rynders' assistants, Mr. O'Keefe, with the exception of young John Baptiste, who, it was announced, has become insane, and is so violent that it has been absolutely necessary to chain him in his cell.

The first witness examined for the prosecution was Zachariah Seaver, who was questioned by Mr. Hunt, Assistant United States District-Attorney.

Q.—Mr. Seaver, where do you reside? A.—I reside in New-York.

Q.—What is your business and where do you transact it? A.—I am a General Shipping Agent, and do business at No. 113 South-street.

Q.—What is the nature of your business? A.—It is particularly a part of my business to furnish crews for vessels, and to pay the crews their advance wages.

Q.—Did you furnish the crew for the ship Haidee during the present year? A.—I did.

Q.—When did you furnish them? A.—I think early in January.

Q.—By whom were you employed? A.—I was employed by Mr. Sanchez Y. Dolz.

Q.—Were you acquainted with him? A.—No. He was an entire stranger to me. He came to my office to request me to furnish him a crew.

Q.—Did you visit him afterwards? A.—I did. I visited him at his office, in Pearl-street, I think it is No. 187.

Q.—Was he in business at that place? A.—I think so. I don't know what business he was in, but he had a sign up there.

Q.—Do you recollect whether it was that of a commission merchant? A.—I know nothing of it, but that his name was up.

Q.—Did you ever visit him at his house? A.—I did not. Never anywhere but at his office.

Q.—Do you know where he lives? A.—I do not.

Q.—Did you know personally any of the ship's company before it was furnished by you? A.—I knew only one, and that was the mate.

Q.—How long had you known him? A.—About three years, as near as I can recollect.

Q.—What was the mate's name? A.—His name was Macomber.

Q.—Henry G. Macomber? A.—I think that is it.

Q.—Where did you become acquainted with him? A.—I think in New-York; he shipped with me, and that's the way I became acquainted with him.

Q.—Did he ever state to you where he was born? A.—Not particularly; I marked it down when I shipped him, either from what he said, or from his "Protection;" I think from his "Protection;" nothing was said about it that I recollect.

Q.—Do you often fill up the articles from the "Protection?" A.—We fill them up from the "Protection," and from what is said at the time.

Q.—Do you recollect any particular conversation at the time you shipped Macomber for the Haidee? A.—I do not recollect any particular conversation at that time.

Q.—Did he sign the shipping articles in your presence? A.—He did.

Q.—Are you a Notary Public? A.—I am.

Q.—Did he put down a place himself? (objected to by Mr. Joachimssen, on the ground that the papers would show if he did.) The papers were shown witness, who then said he only saw him sign his name.

Q.—Who wrote the birth-place? A.—The balance was written by my clerk.

Q.—Was the name signed after the papers were filled out? A.—The name was signed first, and the papers were filled out immediately afterwards—while he was present.

Q.—Did he ever tell you where his home was? A.—He did not, to the best of my recollection.

Q.—Who paid the hands? A.—I paid them their advance wages.

Q.—Who furnished the money? A.—I furnished the money myself.

Q.—Who paid you? A.—Mr. Dolz paid me back after the ship had sailed.

Q.—Had you anything more to do with the vessel? A.—I had nothing to do with her after she cleared.

Q.—Is Mr. Dolz a citizen? A.—I do not know; I should suppose him to be a foreigner by his appearance.

Q.—Were you on board the Haidee about the time she cleared last? A.—I was on board several times, and about the time she cleared last.

Q.—Did you see Mr. Dolz on board? A.—I did not; Mr. Dolz gave me the order to ship the crew, and told me to go up and see the captain as to the number; I saw the captain on the subject; the master's name was Dobson; he did not sail in her; the name of the captain who did sail in her was Whitney.

Cross-examined by Mr. Joachimssen—Did Mr. Dolz say anything to you about the voyage? A.—Mr Dolz called on me, but I don't think there was anything said as to what the voyage would be.

Q.—When Mr. Macomber signed the articles, had they been filled in? A.—When Mr. Macomber signed the articles, they had been filled in.

Q.—From whom did you get a description of the voyage? A.—I got a description of the voyage from Captain Dobson, on board the ship.

Q.—Was any other voyage spoken of? A.—There was no other voyage spoken of to me except the voyage called for in the articles.

Q.—Who engaged the Captain? A.—I don't know who did engage him.

Q.—Did you speak to Captain Whitney about the voyage? A.—I did not speak to him about the voyage.

Q.—When did Captain Whitney sign the articles? A.—Whitney signed about the day before she sailed?

Q.—When Macomber went on board, who was in command? A.—When Macomber went on board, Captain Dobson was in command.

Q.—Was nothing said about the change of captains, or change of the voyage.

(Objected to, but allowed.)

Q.—(Repeated in substance)—Was anything said about the change on board? A.—No, not to my knowledge.

Q.—Did Macomber see the shipping articles after he had signed them? A.—I think Mr. Macomber did not see the shipping articles after he had signed his name; as far as I know, he never saw the entries that were made after he had signed.

Q.—Was the entry there (pointing to the record of citizenship) put in from his own statement? A.—That portion in relation to him was put down before him, either from what he said or from his "protection."

Q.—How was it with the others of the ship's company? A.—The others were the same.

Q.—Could you recognize any of the ship's company now? A.—I could not recognize any of them now except Mr. Macomber, with whom I was acquainted before.

Q.—Do you know whether the crew were natives, or naturalized citizens of the United States? A.—I do not; we don't have more than one in a hundred who are Americans, or who are entitled to citizenship; there are no Americans to be had for foreign-going vessels.

Q.—And still they have "protections?" A.—Oh, yes, they get them; one "protection" may answer for twenty men; it is not my business to inquire how they get them.

Q.—How were these men got? A.—We put the ship's name on our bulletin, and picked out from those who were willing to go, such as he thought would suit.

Q.—Have you that bulletin now? A.—I do not think we have; we seldom keep them more than a week or two at a time; they are taken down and others put up in their places.

Q.—What was on your bulletin? A.—Our bulletin, in regard to the Haidee, was for Gibraltar or Cadiz; I think it was Gibraltar.

Q.—Did you ship the cook and steward? A.—I think the cook and steward were on board; I don't know how they came there; I had nothing to do with them any more than to have them sign the articles.

Q.—How many did you ship? A.—I shipped the mate and crew.

Q.—Had any body else anything to do with it? A.—No, except our runners.

Jacobson, one of the prisoners, was here requested to stand up, and the witness was asked if he could recollect shipping him, or the others present. A.—I do not recollect any of them except the mate, Macomber; in shipping men I don't see them more than three minutes, simply while they are signing the articles.

Q.—Who shipped Mr. Macomber? A.—I suggested Mr. Macomber myself as mate, on account of my knowledge of him; I sent him to the Captain with a written recommendation, as first officer, on account of his previous good character.

Q.—Had you shipped him before? A.—I had, three or four times.

Q.—To where? A.—To the West Indies.

Q.—Can you name any vessel on which you shipped him? A.—I think I shipped him on the bark Cadet three voyages.

Q.—Where does she belong? A.—She belongs here.

Q.—When you went on board the Haidee, whom did you see? A.—I did not notice anybody in particular, except the stevedore's men and the crew.

Q.—Do you know who the owners of the Haidee are? A.—I only know by supposition.

Q.—Did you see them taking in cargo? A.—I did, but I cannot recollect what it was.

Mr. Hunt, Assistant United States District-Attorney—We don't claim that she shipped an African cargo.

Q.—(By Mr. Hunt)—You say you don't get many Americans—I suppose you meant for crews, not officers? A.—We try to get American officers, but we have much difficulty in getting them; we do the best we can, and get, probably, about one half Americans.

Q.—(By Mr. Joachimssen)—Is it not a necessity of the port, on the consequence of the great scarcity of American seamen, that you should ship so many foreigners? A.—It is.

Q.—Do you take Dolz to be a foreigner? A.—Yes.

Q.—Why? A.—From his appearance and manner.

Q.—Have you ever known Macomber to have been on the African Coast? A.—I have not since I became acquainted with him.

Q.—Why was the Captain changed? A.—I think the first Captain (Dobson) was sick.

Q.—Had you known Whitney? A.—I had.

Q.—Had the master signed before Macomber? A.—I think he had not signed when Macomber did.

Q.—On what day did the Haidee sail? A.—I do not remember.

Q.—How long before she sailed were the articles signed?

Mr. Joachimssen here suggested that John Baptiste should be discharged, as he had become insane, and of course nothing could be done with him. The testimony was then continued:

Q.—How short a time before she sailed were you on board? A.—I should think about half an hour.

Q.—How long before that were the articles signed? A.—About a week or ten days before she sailed.

Q.—When were they signed by the crew? A.—From three to five days.

Q.—When did Whitney take command? A.—I think some two or three days before she sailed.

Q.—Did you engage the Captain. A.—I did not.

Mr. Henry C. Smith, a Custom-house broker, was next called and sworn; but he knew nothing in relation to the matter.

Sidney P. Ingraham sworn: Q.—Mr. Ingraham, what is your business? A.—I am a register clerk in the Custom-house.

Q.—Have you the papers in relation to the ownership of the ship Haidee in your possession? A.—I have, [showing them;] these are the papers containing the oath of the ownership and the register bond of the ship Haidee.

Mr. Joachimssen objected to ex-parte declarations as evidence. He claimed that the papers were filled up by Mr. Ingraham at the dictation of some other party. If the prosecution desired proof of the ownership, they should produce Mr. Daly.

Mr. Hunt admitted that the papers were not sufficient evidence of the ownership, and the witness was withdrawn, as he purposed to prove it without the papers.

Ramon S. Latorre was next called for the prosecution, and sworn.

Q.—Mr. Latorre, where do you reside? A.—I reside in this City, and do business at No. 187 Pearl-street, as an importer of segars.

Q.—Do you know Amelia Sancho Daly? A.—I do.

Q.—Where does he live? A.—He does business in the second story; I don't much about him.

Q.—Have you any business acquaintance with him? A.—I have not.

Q.—How long have you known him there? A.—About three years; he is a shipping merchant.

Q.—Where does he reside? A.—He resides in Thirty-fourth-street, between Sixth and Seventh avenues.

Q.—Where do you reside? A.—I reside in Thirty-fourth-street, between Seventh and Eighth avenues.

Q.—Have you ever visited him at his house? A.—I have not.

Cross-examined by Mr. Joachimssen—Q.—Of what country is he? A.—He comes from Spain; I don't know what part.

William King, or Kins, called for the prosecution, and sworn. [His testimony is materially the same as his affidavit, published in the TIMES.]

Q.—Mr. King where do you live? A.—I reside in Lisbon, Portugal.

Q.—Where were you born? A.—I was born in St. Michaels, in the West Indies.

Q.—How old are you? A.—I am 23 years of age.

Q.—How long have you been in this country? A.—I came here when I was 11 years of age as a cabin boy, and ever since that time I have followed the sea.

Q.—Have you been home since your arrival here? A.—I have.

Q.—Were you on board the Haidee? A.—I was; I went out in her in February last; I don't recollect the day of the month.

Q.—In what capacity did you ship? A.—As an able seaman.

Q.—Who was the captain? A.—Captain Whitney, and the first mate was Mr. Macomber, the man who is present; the second mate was Mr. Coleman.

Q.—How many of a crew were there? A.—Twelve before the mast, besides the cook and steward.

Q.—Were you one of the twelve? A.—I was; the others were Wilson, Maurice, Alex, Jose Frank, Ohner, Jack McLeod, a man named Jim, Antonio, Jose Coster, and Jack, Jose Cœtano, (cook,) Jose Marie, (steward,) and John Baptiste, an Italian; we sailed from here and had six passengers—one was the owner of the ship, Mr. Boutelle; he went from here to go to Gibralter, but did not go there; we went to Cadiz first; he landed all the passengers ashore, and discharged the cargo of flour there: we then took a new fore-yard, and the empty casks we filled with water, then we took on more ballast; we went from there to Gibralter; there we discharged the rest of the cargo, consisting of tobacco and flour, and took in rice and beans, and more ballast; we went from there to Cadiz again, and took in bread, and fitted out there to go to St. Michaels, in the West Indies, to take passengers to go to Rio; three men came on board, one was the owner, Mr. Boutelle, the other was Viera, and the other was Capt. Thomans, a Portuguese; we then went to go to St. Michaels; we pretended to go there, but we did not; we went to Madeira and then to the coast of Africa, to the West; we made Cholango, and there we landed Mr. Viera ashore with the letters; in three or four hours a boat came off with men in, and they gave the orders for the ship to go away for 40 days; I did not hear them give the orders myself, but the others heard them; we went to water the ship at Wamhorg, an island; then took in the water, and went out again to cruise; when our cruise was finished—40 days—we came back to Cholango again; we lay all that day and night at anchor; next morning we began taking in negroes; we took in 1,133 or 1,134, I don't know which; we then went to Havana; I don't know how long the passage was.

Q.—In what way were the negroes taken on board? A.—They were brought to the ship in boats; we lend a hand and pull them up, and a hand at the stays pitched them in.

Q.—Who pulled them up? A.—I was one, and Felix was another, and there was another to pitch them in.

Q.—How did you do it? A.—We took the negroes as they stood up in the boats, pulled them up, and pitched them in.

Q.—You went to Cuba—did you go into Havana? A.—When we went to Cuba, we did not go into the port of Havana; we anchored off Cardenas, outside; we lay there at anchor part of the day and all that night; the same night, at half-past eight o'clock, two men came in a boat, to discharge the negroes that night; I heard them say, "We will discharge to-night if we can—if not, we will discharge to-morrow morning;" then next morning two big boats came alongside, and discharged the negroes that were alive; they discharged about 900; then after that we had our pay; after we had our pay the mate, Mr. Macomber, and the Captain said to us the ship was cleared to go to New-Orleans; Mr. Vira, Captain Whitney and Thomans, left the ship in charge of the mate; they went ashore; we went out the same day.

Mr. Joachimssen objected to anything after that day being given in evidence, as it had nothing whatever to do with the charge.

Mr. Hunt thought the whole voyage should be given, as the after conduct might go to show intent. If the mate had said the ship was going to New-Orleans, and she did not go there, that might throw some light upon the intentions of the parties.

Mr. Joachimssen claimed that if the prisoners were not guilty up to the time the negroes were landed, nothing they did after that could make them guilty, therefore, nothing after that should be admitted.

Commissioner White—It does not go to show that they were engaged in the slave-trade, but it may throw light on what had been done before.

Mr. Joachimssen—The after circumstances have nothing whatever to do with the charge.

Mr. Hunt had never heard that both direct and circumstantial evidence could not be given in the same case.

Mr. Joachimssen said he could produce a decision of Judge Nelson's sustaining his objection.

The Commissioner said the questions might be put in writing, and he would decide upon whether the witness should answer, after he had examined the decision which Mr. Joachimssen proposed to produce.

The questions were then reduced to writing as follows:

Q.—Describe the voyage after leaving Cardenas? (Objected to.)

Q.—State what the defendant Macomber did, and ordered to be done, with respect to the ship, after leaving Cardenas. (Objected to.)

The case was then adjourned to Monday next.

It was stated privately, during the day, that the Grand Jury had found indictments against the prisoners.

SUPREME COURT—CIRCUIT—Oct. 8.

Before Judges E. Darwin and Smith and a Jury.

THE OCEAN BANK CASE.

Martin, President of the Ocean Bank vs. J. S. & S. Dunning, Jr.—This was an action to recover a sum of about $50,000 charged as having been drawn by the defendant from the bank, by collusion with the paying teller, (McGuigan,) who, it is alleged, certified the checks of the Messrs. Dunning above the amount of their deposits, without the knowledge of any of the officers of the Bank. The plaintiffs produced testimony showing that the sum over-drawn was $39,200, namely: Nine checks of June 3, 1854, amounting to $26,300, interest thereon to Sept. 23, 1858, four years, three months and two days, $7,926 51; five checks dated Oct. 14, 1854, $12,900; interest to Sept. 23, 1858, $3.509 01, and interest from Sept. 23, 1858, to Oct. 8, 1858, $114 32, making a total of $50,799 85.

The defence contended that the money was raised to meet the checks, and that if there was any defalcation it was on the part of the teller, for which the bank was responsible. Case still on.

COURT OF COMMON PLEAS—Oct. 8.

Before Judge Brady.

Joseph H. Southard vs. Ferdinand L. Hall.—This was an action to recover damages for an alleged malicious prosecution. On the 16th of June, 1857, the defendant passed through the Park, when there was a crowd of people, occasioned by Mayor Wood's conflict with the Metropolitan Police. When passing through the crowd, the defendant had his pocket picked. On the next day, he caused the plaintiff in this suit to be arrested for picking his pocket. The plaintiff was held to bail, indicted and tried before Judge Russell and acquitted, having introduced evidence before the Jury to show that Mr. Hall was mistaken as to his identity. This action was now brought by the party so arrested against Mr. Hall for damages for that arrest, the plaintiff having been incarcerated 54 hours in the Tombs.

Counsel for the defendant moved for a non-suit, and Judge BRADY dismissed the complaint on the ground that there was a failure of proof of want of probable cause and malice in the conduct of the defendant in causing the plaintiff to be arrested. That in actions of this kind the question of guilt or innocence was the controlling guide in the cause. That although the case of the plaintiff might be one of extreme hardship, yet, as the conduct of the defendant was only in bringing a supposed offender to justice, in which he made a mistake of identity, yet that did not per se constitute a want of probable cause or malice.

HAS AN ARTIST A RIGHT TO EXHIBIT A PORTRAIT?

Before Judge Hilton.

Jeremiah Gurney vs. Elias Howe.—This was an action by a professor of the art of photographic portrait painting to recover $750 for taking and painting an elaborate portrait in oil of the wife of the defendant. It appeared in evidence on the examination of the plaintiff, of his son, and of an artist in their employ named Meyer, that this portrait was ordered in the early part of last year, that it was to be a first-class full-length picture in oil, with accessories to be chosen by the defendant or the lady. The photograph was taken and transferred to canvass, and Meyer was employed upon it for about eight weeks, the defendant occasionally calling to see it, and approving of the work. In the process of the picture he ordered a shawl to be purchased at Stewart's to be painted in the picture as one of the adjuncts, and told the artist he would immortalize himself by placing his name on the picture. After it was finished, the defendant inquired the price, and was told $750. He remarked "that was a big price." Subsequently the picture was offered to him, but he refused to receive it, and the plaintiff exhibited the picture at the Crystal Palace Fair of last year.

On the part of the defence, it was set up that Mr. Howe was a patron of the fine arts and of the twin arts of daguerreotyping and photography, he having had portraits taken of himself, his son and his daughter by Mr. Gurney, which led to an order to paint a first-class life-sized portrait of Mrs. Howe for $200. The work was undertaken, but was not completed to the satisfaction of the defendant, and the price demanded being enormous, he refused to take the work, and further the plaintiff had made it his own by sending it to a public exhibition. To sustain this defence, Mr. Fredericks was called as a witness, and he gave it as his opinion that the work was not well done, and that it was not a perfect likeness of the lady, and not worth, as a work of art, $200. The defendant himself was then put upon the stand, and he testified that he had ordered a first-class picture, not to exceed $200; that he had ordered the shawl and the frame, and expressed favorable opinions of the work while the artist Meyer was progressing with it, but when finished, he the defendant, said it was not satisfactory, and refused to take it, neither did he desire or approve of the public exhibition of the portrait by the plaintiff. The defendant admitted that he had brought several friends to see the picture, and that they had pronounced favorable criticisms on the work, before it was finished. The Judge, in his charge, said there were two points in this case. First, was there an express contract to paint a first-class portrait for $200? If not, was there a general order or contract to paint the portrait? and then, had the plaintiff the right to make a public exhibition of it after it was refused by the defendant, the plaintiff thereby making the work his own? The Jury retired last night, and this morning brought in a sealed verdict for the plaintiff for $750 and the costs, being the full amount claimed.

MARINE COURT—FRIDAY, Oct. 8.

Before Judge Thompson.

John A. Stephens vs. Christopher Storz.—The plaintiff is treasurer of the New-York Hospital, and brings this action under an act of the Legislature of 1850, to recover a penalty for disobeying the orders of one of the New-York Harbor-masters, Robert Murray. The defendant is master of the lighter Wallace. In September last, Murray forbade the defendant coming into Pier No. 10 East River. The order was disobeyed. He also ordered the Captain to leave the pier, which order was also disobeyed. Upon this evidence counsel for defendant moved for a non-suit, on the ground that the plaintiff must show affirmatively that the defendant had no right to occupy a berth at the pier. The Court, however, denied the motion, holding that the presumption of the law was always in favor of the performance of official duty by persons appointed to do it. If the harbor-master acted improperly, the onus was on the defendant to establish that fact. It may be proper to add, the act in question is incorrectly printed in the 4th edition of our R. S.; also in Davies' Compilation and Haskett's Abstract. It is correct as printed in the Sess. Laws of 1850. Judgment for plaintiff for $50, and costs.

De Vries and His Counsel.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

In your morning edition of this day I found the following:

"ADOLPH DE VRIES pleaded guilty to forging a check for $250. There was much in the appearance and manner of this young man that told in his favor. It was his first offence, and he candidly confessed his guilt. The Recorder, acting in a merciful spirit, sent him for one year only to the Penitentiary. One circumstance connected with his arrest deserves to be stated. When taken by the police officer, he had in his possession a pocket-book containing $695. His counsel, Mr. ADDISON SANFORD, engaged to conduct his defence for $150, obtaining from DE VRIES an order for the pocket-book, which was returned empty to the prisoner, the $695 having halted on the way. The Recorder recalled DE VRIES, and expressed his intention to compel a restitution of the money from Mr. SANFORD."

I will only add, that Mr. DE VRIES was my client; that I received towards my fee only $95, and that I never heard of his having more than that sum, until some several weeks after we had determined to plead guilty to the indictment; and this after my return from the country. As soon as I learned that he pretended to have had several hundred dollars in the pocket-book which was taken from him, I saw him and told him that if possible, I would postpone action in his case; and, accordingly, I did apply to Mr. SEDGWICK, Assistant District Attorney, to postpone the case, which was done; and I also informed Mr. SEDGWICK of the reasons for my application, which were, that we might have time to examine into the matter. Since then, some five weeks have elapsed, during which time I have postponed the case by the consent of Mr. SEDGWICK some three or four times, and have caused, with others, the matter to be investigated. Yesterday, during my absence from Court, and without any notice to me from the District Attorney's office, DE VRIES was called up and he plead guilty and was sentenced, and then occurred as is alleged, what is herein before stated. It is the custom to sentence prisoners on Saturday, and supposing that this case would come up on Saturday, I went to the District Attorney's office this morning to consult with Mr. SEDGWICK about this case, and was greatly astonished to learn, for the first time, that my client had been sentenced already; and upon speaking to Mr. SEDGWICK of the impropriety of this proceeding in the absence of counsel, I understood him to say, substantially, that it was allowed because he understood what plea was to be put in, and that the case was understood by him, and that no counsel could have been instrumental in procuring a lighter sentence for so grave a charge.

A. SANFORD.

FRIDAY EVENING, Oct. 8, 1858.

Mr. SANFORD—Dear Sir: In compliance with your request, I herewith inclose to you, for publication, if you desire it, such facts as are within my knowledge having relation to the case of H. DE VRIES. I arrested him, took him to the Mechanics' Bank, searched him in presence of the Cashier and took from him a pocket-book containing exactly $95, which was counted by the Cashier in presence of others, and some paper and a pawn-ticket, all of which was delivered to you upon an order of his. It is all gammon about there being any more money in the pocket-book.

I remain, respectfully, yours, &c.,

GILBERT F. HAYS, Bank Officer.

P. S.—I would further state that DE VRIES offered me the pocket-book and contents not to lock him up, acknowledging the contents to be but $95. G. F. H.

Admissions to the Bar.

SUPREME COURT—GENERAL TERM.—Oct. 6.

Before Judges Davies, Ingraham and Smith.

At the opening of the Court this morning, Judge DEAN, on behalf of the Examiners who were appointed to examine as to the qualifications of candidates for admission to the Bar, stated that, after a thorough examination on all the subjects mentioned in the late Supreme Court Rules, they had made their report. It appears by the report that there were twenty-three applicants, of whom fourteen were admitted. The oath of office was then administered by Judge DAVIES to the following gentlemen, who signed the roll as Attorneys and Counsellors at Law:

San. L. Macomber, K. Plowd'n Morrogh, John Bird,
John Davidson, Gilbert L. Van Pelt, Henry Daly, Jr.
C. H. Van Brunt, Wm. W. Hegeman, S. T. Cannon,
Edward S. Smith, Chas. P. Buckley, Edwin H. Felt,
T. L. Spencer. Wm. G. Wheelwright.

The Merchants and Secretary Cobb.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

In an article published in your paper of this morning, animadverting upon the decision of Judge NELSON, in the case of EDWARD MARSHALL and THOMAS TILLOTSON against HEMAN J. REDFIELD, great injustice is done the present Secretary of the Treasury. You say, referring to the money paid as duty which had been the subject of litigation, "Mr. Secretary COBB can pay it back to them, if he sees fit, but refuses to do so."

Without entering into the merits of the question involved in Judge NELSON's decision, I desire to place before your readers the facts of the case, so that the blame, if any there be, may fall upon the proper person. They are as follows:

Messrs. TILLOTSON & MARSHALL made a warehouse entry at the Custom-house per ship William Hitchcock, in August, 1854, for nine packages of hardware, and gave the usual bond. Seven of these packages were subsequently withdrawn and duties paid.

The importers then (in April, 1856) applied to the Secretary of the Treasurer to be relieved from the payment of the duty on the remaining two cases, alleging that the same had never been imported into the United States. This request was denied by the then Secretary of the Treasury, in a letter dated April 12, 1856, addressed to Collector REDFIELD.

As Mr. COBB did not enter upon the discharge of his duties as Secretary of the Treasury, until March 6, 1857, I do not understand how he can be held responsible for a decision of the Department made in April, 1856. By inserting the above you will do

AN ACT OF JUSTICE.

A Quarantine Victim.

QUARANTINE, S. I., Friday, Oct. 8, 1858.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

DEAR SIR: On Tuesday, the 5th inst., it was my great affliction and sad misfortune to witness the death of my beloved wife. She died from confirmed consumption, and had been sick and confined to her house for many months. At the time of the fire at Quarantine, on the night of the 2d September ult., my dwelling was burned by the mob, and my sick wife was obliged to flee before the flames. In removing her from the house, all possible pains were taken to save her from catching cold, but the care was unavailing; for soon after the fire, her symptoms became worse, and she continued to sink until the time of her death. Since her death, I have been pained to hear, as a common rumor on Staten Island, that she died of yellow fever; and I am of opinion that the source of the rumor can be traced to those who hastened her death by burning down the building which gave her shelter.

The crime of committing arson, and thereby turning a sick and disabled woman into the streets at night, is a sin and an outrage of sufficient magnitude, without adding slander thereto to tarnish her memory.

Respectfully, EDWARD CUNNINGHAM.

WM. G. CUTTING'S NEW-YORK FLOUR AND GRAIN CIRCULAR.

NEW-YORK, Saturday, Oct. 9, 1858.

FLOUR, &c.—The market continues heavy for State and Western Flour, the receipts being large, and holders manifesting a strong desire to realize. Prices have declined 30c.@50c. ℘ bbl., during the week, and still tend downward. The inquiry is principally for the home trade, the demand for shipping being restricted, notwithstanding the reduced prices ruling. The transactions yesterday were moderate, and prices continued to favor purchasers. Southern Flour is plenty and depressed. Canadian Flour continues dull and heavy. Rye Flour is steady. Corn Meal is quiet, and prices a shade easier.

GRAIN—Wheat is more freely offered, yet the demand has continued quite limited. Prices are depressed, the general tendency of the market being strongly in favor of buyers. The decline for the past week has been fully 5c.@10c. ℘ bushel on nearly all qualities. The export inquiry is limited, and confined mostly to unsound descriptions of Spring Wheat. The demand for sound parcels is moderate, and generally does not extend beyond the Eastern and local trade. Yesterday's transactions were moderate, leaving the market heavy. Rye has declined 3c.@5c. ℘ bushel, closing, however, steadily at 75c.@76c. Corn continues without material alteration in prices. The supply is ample. Oats are steady and in demand. Barley has declined and is heavy.

FREIGHTS to Liverpool continue dull, closing at 1s. 4d. for Flour, ℘ bbl., and 3½d.@4d. for Grain.

NEW BOOKS

FROM THE PRESS OF THE
AMERICAN SUNDAY-SCHOOL UNION,
Published Saturday, Sept. 4.
COOPER GENT, and Other Sketches, from "The Country Pastor's Visit to his Poor." 18mo, cloth.

A record of God's gracious dealings with the meanest and humblest of his creatures. Sunday-school teachers and other visitors to the abodes of poverty and misery will be encouraged by it. As a testimony to God's faithfulness in bestowing his blessing upon labors wrought in Christ's name among the children of sorrow and suffering, such a record has permanent value; while it also serves as a sample of the method of approaching, instructing, and winning those who are supposed to be alienated from the common sympathies of life.

Published Saturday, Sept. 11.
LOTTIE'S THOUGHT BOOK. Beautifully illustrated. 12mo, cloth.
Published Saturday, Sept. 18.
ORACLES. A daily Scriptural text-book on an entirely original plan. 32mo, cloth.
To be followed on Saturday, Sept. 25, by GRACE TRIUMPHANT, A BRIEF MEMOIR OF JOHN FLEMING. By a Teacher. 18mo, cloth.
On Saturday, Oct. 2.
HOW TO LIVE. Illustrated in the lives of Frederick Perthes—the Man of Business; Gerhard Tersteegen—the Christian Laborer; James Montgomery—the Christian Man of Letters. 12mo, cloth.
On Saturday, Oct. 9.
HARRY SEYMOUR; the Little Boy whose feet would run home. 18mo, cloth.
On Saturday, Oct. 16.
MRS. COOPER'S STORY; or, the Golden Mushroom. 18mo, cloth.
On Saturday, Oct. 23.
KITTY MAYNARD; or, "To obey is better than sacrifice." By the author of "Irish Amy," "Ready Work," etc., etc. 18mo, cloth.
On Saturday, October 30.
A WEEK WITH FANNY; or the Fifth Commandment. 18mo, cloth. Embellished from original designs.
On Saturday, November 6.

RELIGIOUS NOTICES.

DO THE CLERGY OF THE SEVERAL NAMES AND DENOMINATIONS PREACH THE GOSPEL?—Nay, verily! They teach what is opposed to both reason and scripture. The editor of the Herald of the Kingdom takes this ground against them; and, as he has returned from Mississippi, he will speak at 10½ A. M., on Lord's Day, at the Christian Synagogue, No. 187 Bowery. The public are invited to attend, without charge.

HOTELS.

ST. DENIS HOTEL,

ELEVENTH-STREET, CORNER OF BROADWAY.
The subscriber, for many years connected with the Julien Hotel, and lately proprietor thereof, takes this method of informing his friends and the traveling public, that he has, on the 10th of April, A. C., purchased the interest of Mr. D. Julien in the above establishment.
It has, since the consummation of that purchase, been the aim of the subscriber to put his House in complete order, and the same is now thoroughly repaired, repainted, and has been, wherever necessary, refurnished. Water-cisterns, heaters, a separate entrance for ladies, and, in short, whatever was required to bring the Hotel upon an equal footing with the best establishments, has been supplied. The kitchen and lower departments of the house have also received the most untiring attention, and the proprietor feels convinced that he is enabled to provide for his guests in even a better manner than he was at his former hotel, and cheerfully gives the assurance, that at all times his whole attention will be devoted to their comforts, and no pains or expense spared to render his House a quiet residence for families as well as single gentlemen. PETER DEGIVE.

PARIS HOTEL DE BAVIERE,

NEWS OF THE DAY.

We have received our Utah correspondence to the 11th September. There is no news of importance. A search for the Territorial Library has been made, but unsuccessfully. Snow had begun to fall in the Territory, and several cattle in the mountains had perished from cold. The army had moved into Winter quarters. Gen. JOHNSTON had assigned the command to Lieut.-Colonel SMITH, and himself entered upon the duties of Commandant of the Department of Utah.

We have a dispatch from Oswego announcing a serious disaster on the Lake. A strong gale of wind has prevailed since Thursday afternoon, with a very heavy sea. The schooner Ospray, of Buffalo, with a cargo of wheat, was driven against a pier, and sank immediately. The captain's wife and child, and the mate, were washed overboard and drowned. Several other vessels have arrived there more or less damaged, and fears are entertained for the safety of those known to be out.

The New-York State Fair closed at Syracuse yesterday with an address from Mr. WILLIAMS, President of the Michigan State Agricultural Society, and the award of the prizes. A grand display of all the prize cattle and horses took place. The aggregate receipts this year are a little under $10,000.

A fire occurred in the basement of the Ohio State House on the 5th inst., directly under the Office of the Secretary of State, in a room used by him as a store-room, and by workmen as a paint shop. A large quantity of stationery was destroyed, besides five or six hundred volumes of public documents, embracing the only complete set of documents from the first organization of the Territorial Government to the present time. The origin of the fire is unknown.

We publish exclusively this morning the testimony taken by the Special Committee of the Managers of the American Institute Fair with reference to the origin of the fire which destroyed the Crystal Palace on the 5th of October. This testimony consists of the sworn statements of the Agent and Secretary, the Superintendents, floor clerks, and several exhibitors and visitors. It all tends to prove that there was no carelessness on the part of the management, and that the fire must have originated from incendiarism. The ruins of the Crystal Palace will be ready for the admission of exhibitors on Monday next. The American Institute, in view of its cost and doubtful use, have declined to renew the Fair this season, and the exhibitors held a meeting yesterday and resolved to continue the exhibition on their own account, accepting for the purpose the building tendered by Alderman CHARLICK, at the corner of Fiftieth-street and Eighth-avenue. They also decided to dissolve all connection with the American Institute for the future and to organize another institution under a new name.

Last evening, the Rev. Dr. S. H. TURNER, one of the Professors in the Theological Seminary in this City, delivered before the Alumni assembled in St. Peter's Church, Twentieth-street, an address celebrative of the Fortieth Anniversary of his Collegiate appointment. The attendance, though not crowded, was full. Very few and brief references were made to the history of the past forty years, the speaker confining himself almost exclusively to a written-out line of the characteristics, mental, moral and spiritual, befitting candidates for the office of the ministry, and descriptive of their future duties.

A lecture on the relation between colleges and the people, was delivered last night in Clinton Hall, Astor Place, by Hon. HORACE MANN. The lecturer regarded the college as a school of morals as well as a fountain of knowledge, and gave forcible expression to his views as to the need of training men to do good as well as to know good.

Dr. THOMPSON yesterday made a general report to the Commissioners of Health upon the subject of yellow fever, the present season, at Quarantine. The whole number of cases admitted to the Marine Hospital during August and September was 96, of whom 75 recovered, and 21 died; showing that a much greater number of infected vessels and imported cases of yellow fever have arrived during the last two months than at any previous similar period since the establishment of the Institution.

The Americans of the Fifth District met last night at No. 68 East Broadway, and after four hours' debate, appointed a Committee, consisting of two from the Seventh and Thirteenth Wards of New-York, and of one from the Thirteenth, Fourteenth, Fifteenth and Sixteenth of Williamsburg, to confer with the Republican Committee. The next meeting to be subject to the call of the Chair.

The British war-steamer Valorous, which attended the Agamemnon while laying the Atlantic Cable, is hourly expected here, she being detailed to convey Sir WILLIAM GORE OUSELEY to Central America, where he goes to attend to duties connected with his mission.

The Virginia Steamship Company, H. LUDLUM, Agent, who are the proprietors of the Roanoke and Jamestown, have contracted with WM. H. WEBB for the building of a new steamer, to be about 100 tons larger than the Jamestown, and to be ready to take her place on the line by the first of June next.

The rumored sale of the Collins steamers Baltic and Atlantic to a California Steamship Company is premature. Parties have been negotiating for them, but as yet no sale has been effected.

The investigation in the matter of the astounding attempt to swindle the Turkish Government, by the issue of counterfeit paper money, was continued at the Mayor's office, yesterday. Mr. HARRISON, the printer, who had been innocently involved in the scrape, appeared, and surrendered all the plates and remaining paper in his possession. The case was so plain that no examination of Mr. HARRISON was deemed necessary, and he was forthwith discharged.

The case of the prisoners charged with having been engaged in the Slave-trade, on board the ship Haidee, was on again before United States Commissioner WHITE yesterday. A narrative of the voyage was given by one of the witnesses, and others testified as to the manner in which the crew was shipped, all of which was consistent with the affidavit published in the TIMES on Saturday.

The sales of Cotton, yesterday, comprised 2,000 bales, chiefly in transitu, at rather languid prices. Flour, Wheat and Barley were depressed and lower. Corn was salable and steady. Coffee, Sugars and Rice were more active, as also was Spirits Turpentine. Provisions were moderately dealt in. Freights were very dull.

The American Institute.

The Managers of the Fair, at their meeting yesterday, determined after long discussion that it was inexpedient to reopen the Fair this Fall. One party urged it at any cost,—deeming it due to exhibitors, who had lost so much, that they should have the opportunity at least to compete for the premiums of the Institute. The other party held that it was wise to be just as well as generous; that the Institute, in the midst of their embarrassments, could not afford to expend moneys of which they were not in possession, when to the exhibitors it would be of so doubtful service; that any Fair they could reopen at so late a period this Fall would prove a failure; that no building was to be had where a sufficient steam power could be obtained. This view prevailed, and the Managers, apparently with much reluctance, agreed not to make the attempt to reopen.

Meanwhile the exhibitors had their meeting, too, and unanimously resolved to open an exhibition as early as possible. They accepted the tender of the Eighth-avenue Railroad Company's building, and deliberately cut loose from the American Institute. They did not throw the blame of the late fire upon the management, nor seem to reflect that the Institute may have suffered somewhat, as well as themselves, in the conflagration; but, in a lively fit of indignation, resolved to go in not only for a new Fair, but for a new Institute, too, if the next Legislature will grant them a charter. The success of their Fair we may almost take for granted, but their enthusiastic haste to set up an Institute for themselves they will probably think a good deal worse of within a year. That the management may have been faulty is quite possible, but there is no shadow of proof to that effect yet adduced, nor have we any reason to suspect that any other body of men would have managed more conscientiously or wisely.

The French in Asia.

There is a palpable intent, on the part of the French Emperor, to regain a footing for his nation in Asia. Not only have his fleets and ambassadors coöperated in the measures which have happily ended in the opening of China, but we learn that another step has been taken in the same direction, by securing a naval station, and other local advantages, in the kingdom of Corea, that vast peninsula, half-interposing between China and Japan. With the latter island-empire, too, a treaty is to be effected forthwith, after which, we might reasonably anticipate, the fleet and diplomatists would be ordered home. Three such strides towards an Asiatic balance of power would serve, it might be thought, for a single season, but the French Emperor deems otherwise. By the Canada we learn that Vice-Admiral RIGAULT DE GENOUILLY, the commander-in-chief in the Chinese waters, has been ordered to Cochin-China, and that preparations on a very extended scale are making to render the expedition successful. Should this last stroke result fortunately, perhaps another projected movement, namely, upon Madagascar, may be allowed to go over to another year.

The expedition thus announced may haply strike such readers as are not fully up in elementary geography, as of dubious, and indeed inappreciable importance. Where is Cochin-China? What have the French to do with it? And what, if the campaign succeeds? Craving the patience of such as are beyond this primary catechism, let us answer in brevity.

Cochin-China, or, more properly, Anam, forms the eastern portion of the peninsula, which is completed on the west by Laos, Siam, Burmah and Malaya. At the north it adjoins the frontier of China. The Empire embraces the three provinces of Tonquin, Cambodia and Cochin-China; the monarch of the latter, early in the present century, having achieved the subjugation of the other two. According to Mr. CRAWFORD, who visited the capital as English Envoy some thirty years ago, and made close observations on his way and during his stay, the population amounts to but little more than 5,000,000, though other calculators place it as high as 20,000,000. The people are mainly of Chinese origin, retain a large share of Chinese characteristics, and what religion there is came from that Empire. They are described, however, as possessing far greater vivacity, intelligence and cultivation than their cousins at the North. The Government is a military despotism, with a standing army of 50,000 men, thoroughly armed and drilled in the European methods, well practiced in gunnery, and provided with endless stores of great guns, small arms and warlike munitions manufactured in the country. So far, indeed, are the Anamese in advance of other Asiatics that the fortifications of their sea ports are said to be worthy of VAUBAN or COHORN, so skillfully constructed and so formidable as to bid defiance to any but the latest resources of European siege-trains. The walls surrounding Hue, the capital, are five miles in length, and, if properly manned, might resist the most powerful assault. The difficulty is that it would require the whole military force of the Empire to man them. At the mouth of the river, through which Hue is approached, there is a bar similar to that at the discharge of the Peiho; but instead of the miserable Ta-koo forts which offered the semblance of defence at the latter, there is a large quadrangular fortification, so amply supplied with heavy guns as to render hostile entrance extremely hazardous, if not impracticable. A productive, enterprising and industrious people are the Anamese; keen, shrewd and business-like; men with whom Europe might drive a profitable trade, if the jealousy of European power had not long ago impelled the Government to decline commercial intercourse with any but their immediate neighbors.

The groundwork of the French imbroglio is on this wise: In that spirit of daring enterprise, and with that facility of assimilation with all nations which mark the national character, officers of the army of LOUIS XIV. made their way, a century and a half ago, not only to the heart of India, but over the whole of the further peninsula. To their instructions and labors are owing those great advances in engineering and in military and naval affairs generally, which individualize the Anamese among the Asiatics. The French priest is never far behind the French soldier. The whole of Cochin-China was in rapid process of evangelization during those splendid days when DUPLEIX ruled at Pondicherry with a magnificence rivaling the imperial display of the Grand Mogul himself, and before the close of the eighteenth century a majority of the people of Cochin-China professed Christianity. At that time the leading Jesuit father in the Kingdom was M. PIGNEAUX. While WASHINGTON was fighting our Revolutionary battles on the soil of New-Jersey, HIEOU-VUŒNG, the King of Cochin-China, was dethroned and slain with his eldest son. Father PIGNEAUX succeeded in saving the life of GIA-LOUNG, the second son, and in due time prompted the youth to collect his friends and raise the standard of legitimacy, against the usurpers. The war proceeded, with various fate, for several years, Father PIGNEAUX being its dominant spirit. To bring it to a close, the priest, in 1786, proposed the invocation of French assistance; and obtaining the assent of GIA-LOUNG, proceeded to Paris, attended by the heir apparent of the crown, where he laid his application before LOUIS XVI. He offered, having plenipotentiary credentials, to cede to the French monarch a considerable extent of territory, including the seaport and harbor of Turon, or Touranne, with a guarantee of undisturbed possession, the European sovereign engaging to send a fleet and soldiers to aid the Anamese King in subduing his rebellious subjects. A treaty was duly solemnized on these conditions. Father PIGNEAUX and his protégé returned to the East. Orders were at the same time sent out to Count CONWAY, commanding the French naval establishment in the East Indies, to proceed at once to Hue, and aid GIA-LOUNG. But Count CONWAY was governed by his mistress rather than by his King; and Madame DE VIENNE had taken offence aforetime at the stern austerity of the Jesuit father toward one of her loose way of life, and seized this occasion to avenge herself. The Admiral was delayed upon one ingenious plea after another; month after month passed, and a year went by. Then came the revolution; and there could be no more hope of intervention. Without it, however, the hereditary Prince succeeded in recovering his crown, repressed all rebellion, conquered Tonquin and Cambodia, and finally died in 1819, adjuring MIN-MANG, his son, "to love France and the French, but never to accord them a foot of Anamese soil." The injunction was authorized by the circumstance that a French cruiser had appeared every year during the previous quarter of a century, demanding the cession of Turon, which GIA-LOUNG had declined, on the ground that the French condition of the grant had failed. MIN-MANG has adhered to the parental will in this particular, but has proved faithless in another. The Christian portion of his people have been exposed to merciless persecution. This circumstance, as did the case of Father CHARDEVOYNE in China, furnishes a plausible pretext for French intervention; and accordingly Admiral RIGAULT DE GENOUILLY, and his armament, are to visit Turon, and demand, firstly, the surrender of that place in compliance with the Convention of 1787, and secondly, the cessation of the existing persecution. Should his demand prove successful, as it doubtless will, the French will have secured one of the largest and finest harbors on the Pacific shore of Asia, and an all-important link in that chain of maritime posts, of which Tahiti, China, Corea and Japan are to furnish the several links.

The enemy to be encountered in this razzia is of a higher order than has just been experienced in China. The Anamese have learned their art of war of the French, as the Sepoys learned it of the English. Turon is well defended with fortifications on "the European plan," armed with the most effective artillery. Nor is the Anamese Navy despicable. It has two hundred gun-boats, averaging eighteen guns apiece; a hundred galleys, with several swivels and a twenty-four pounder each; five hundred others of smaller size, but equally well furnished. Still, the warlike character of the nation is not formidable to any but the neighboring powers; and, in fact, if we may trust Mr. CRAWFORD, above cited, "While Anam is one of the wealthiest of the larger Asiatic States, it is, upon the whole, the easiest to conquer." The French expedition will, therefore, be likely to make short work of it.

The Advantages of the "Stump."

Whatever may be thought of GERRIT SMITH'S political principles, or of his chances of becoming Governor of the State, there can be but little question that in his manner of conducting his canvass, as at present, he is doing the right thing. The practice which has sprung up, and, at least in the Eastern States, seems now thoroughly incorporated in the code of electioneering etiquette, of hiding away the candidate while his friends do the stumping, is, in many respects, a most injurious one, both to the public and its representatives. There is a good old rule of the common law, which pronounces all testimony which has not been sifted by the viva voce cross-examination of the witnesses to be worthless, and which might be applied to electioneering with excellent effect. It is notoriously far easier for a man's friends to tell lies for him than for him to tell them himself; to misrepresent events in which he was an actor, or explain away sentiments imputed to him, than for him to run the gauntlet of personal examination on every point. The reason is obvious. The supporters of a candidate, no matter what they say of their hero, can never be driven into a corner, by searching interrogatories. They can always escape under cover of hearsay; and can always dispose of a false statement by converting it into the excusable mistake of a third party. Moreover, though they pour forth columns of assertion, argument, and invective, disquisitions de omnibus rebus, et quibusdam aliis, offer all sorts of pledges, make all sorts of promises in his name, and of which it is intended that he should have the benefit, if any benefit is to be derived from them, he is not morally bound by a word they say. We may elect him on the faith of what his friends tell us of him, and then he may, after his election, repudiate both the friends and us. There is no way of arriving at truth so well as by asking the person who knows most of any matter as many questions as may be necessary to extract it from him. There prevailed for a long time in the Courts of justice much the same sort of absurd prejudice about letting the parties in a controversy tell their own story, which now makes it a little indelicate or inexpedient for a political aspirant to present himself face to face with his possible constituents. But this absurd restriction has been removed, both here and in England, and now no one is so much relied on for an exact account of the facts in a case as the plaintiff and defendant. This principle on which the change in the law is based, is also excellent, and is capable of ready and useful application to political canvassing.

If politics had not become a trade in which few but knaves and demagogues engage, an appeal to several thousand people, on the part of any man, to commit their share in the government of the nation to his keeping, would be looked upon as a rather serious matter, not to be lightly undertaken. When it is considered how much good or evil a single vote, in the present closely-balanced state of parties, may do—how largely it may influence the destiny of the countless millions who will people this Continent for ages after the present generation has passed away, and how much the chief magistrate of such a State as New-York may do to uphold the national character abroad, or debase and demoralize the community at home—it ought to require more than ordinary confidence in his own capabilities and good intentions, to induce any man to ask people either to send him to Congress, or seat him in the gubernatorial chair. And what is of more importance still—it ought, as we remarked a few days ago, in descanting upon the present mode of discussing municipal corruption, to inspire the public with the deepest possible sense of the responsibility they incur when they choose either "a good fool or a bright rascal." GERRIT SMITH is perhaps right in saying that he himself prefers being the former to being the latter. An individual ought to have no hesitation in making his choice, but we confess we think it very doubtful which makes the worse legislator or public officer. If all mankind were good and fools to boot, it might do to set good fools to govern them; but as long as there are rascals in the world, they will unfortunately not need to be very bright to make the fools do as they please. Consequently, he who sends a fool to Congress because he is good, may feel satisfied that he has simply furnished a rascal with a tool.

The best precaution that the public can take, in our opinion, to avoid selecting their Representatives from either of these classes, is to examine the candidates orally in open Court—touching the faith that is in them—touching their antecedents, their character, their past professions and their future course. No honest man need fear such an ordeal. Every knave and blockhead would shrink from it. If it were generally adopted, primary meetings and Ward politicians would lose half their terrors. It would not be possible for an irresponsible caucus to choose the first man that came to hand, though he "were a devil incarnate," as JOHN COCHRANE says, and present him to a constituency. How, for instance, would our late Mayor have fared if he had been compelled to meet the citizens of every Ward face to face, without the shelter of an orator's privileges at an ordinary meeting, and were compelled to stand up under a fire of questions, not only with reference to the various acts of his administration, but with reference to all the charges vaguely urged against him in hostile newspapers? There are very few rogues who have brass enough to pass through such an ordeal unscathed; and in addition to this it gives the mass of the voters a personal interest in the candidate, and a desire to test his fitness; and, better than all, it frees them from the debasing tyranny known as the "time-honored usages of party."

Taking the stump has generally been regarded as impracticable in our large cities, General WALBRIDGE has proved it to be perfectly practicable in the Third District, and we trust that all our other Congressional candidates may be induced to follow his example.

The Origin of the Crystal Palace Fire.

We publish, this morning, all the testimony that has yet been taken by the Committee of Managers of the American Institute Fair, with reference to the origin of the conflagration of the Crystal Palace. This testimony consists of the affidavits of managers, superintendents, floor clerks, exhibitors, and visitors, and it all tends to the same point—that the fire must have been the work of an incendiary. The report by the TIMES, on the morning after the conflagration, is reaffirmed in all particulars. The fire broke out in a room in the north vestibule, in which were stored the wooden patterns used by the constructors of the building, broken plaster statuary, two barrels of fertilizing powder, and some old iron. No oily rags, nor anything else in which fire could have been spontaneously generated, were in the vicinity. There had been no fire used in any part of the premises within two hundred feet of this lumber room, for a week previous to the conflagration. There was no gutta-percha or india-rubber gas tubing within one hundred and fifty feet—the nearest was a piece that led to the central chandelier, and that was in use during the Great Exhibition. The gas pipes were in perfect order, and two witnesses testify that they believe, while none aver the contrary, that the gas had not been let on from the metres at the hour of the alarm. There were in attendance, and at their posts, eight floor clerks, twelve policemen and twelve laborers. The water hose were in readiness beside the hydrants, and several were at once screwed on when the alarm was given, but the head was not sufficient to expand the hose, and of course they could do little service. Except in this last particular, these sworn statements of men whose word none will question make it perfectly evident that the fire was not caused by any oversight, carelessness or accident of those within the building. Hence it is concluded that the fire was the work of an incendiary, and it is hoped that the vigilance of the Fire Marshal, and the stimulus of the large reward of three thousand dollars, offered by the Institute, may lead to the discovery of the remorseless wretch who caused the destruction of the magnificent structure and its priceless contents.

City Items.

A man was most miraculously saved from drowning at the foot of Beach-street, North River, at 10 o'clock last evening, through the most humane efforts of Captain P. W. KING, of the steamship Washington, at the risk of his own life. He was on board at the time, and hearing a noise on the dock, rushing to the side of the ship he heard the cry of a man overboard. He plunged into the water and rescued the man as he was sinking for the last time. The man was perfectly insensible. The Captain was three-quarters of an hour in the water, the night being very dark and no assistance near. This is the second man the Captain has rescued from a watery grave within the last few days. P. W. KING is the person who made himself so conspicuous in rescuing the crew and passengers of the lamented Winchester on the 2d of May, 1854, for which he received the thanks of the merchants and citizens of this City at a meeting held at the Exchange for the purpose.

The following Clubs of this City held their meetings, on Thursday evening, for the purpose of electing delegates to a State Convention of Workingmen which is to meet in this City on Wednesday of next week: Red Mark No. 42, New-York No. 1, Empire No. 2, Franklin No. 3, Excelsior No. 9, Henry Clay No. 15, Vigilance No. 25, Knickerbocker No. 28, White Eagle No. 36, Buck Eye No. 37, Blue Ribbon, No. 38, Fortitude No. 41.

The principals of the various public schools in this City say that there is no foundation for the report that children have been refused admittance thereto because they were full; on the contrary, they complain of the neglect on the part of the parents in not compelling the children to attend regularly, instead of frequently allowing them to remain away during the afternoon, as they at present do.

The sale, at auction, of pews in the Church of the Incarnation, corner of Twenty-eighth-street and Madison-avenue, the Rev. HENRY E. MONTGOMERY rector, will take place on the 11th proximo, at 7½ P. M.

The Ligation of the Primitive Iliac Artery was on the 6th inst., performed by Dr. STEPHEN SMITH, in the amphitheatre of Bellevue Hospital.

IS THERE AN ABSCONDING DEBTOR AMONG US?—A man named JOHN METCALFE was arrested yesterday on board the steamship Washington, which sails to-day for Europe, charged with attempting to abscond with moneys which he owed Mr. JOHN LAIDLAW, dry goods merchant of Toronto, Canada. Mr. LAIDLAW said that he had sold goods, worth $120, to METCALFE, at Toronto, some two weeks since; that METCALFE kept a large saloon in the Toronto Crystal Palace, and promised to pay for the goods before the Fair should close, but that, having realized a large sum from the profits of his saloon, he had departed clandestinely for the United States, leaving him (LAIDLAW) and other creditors in the lurch; that he (LAIDLAW) had followed METCALFE to New-York, where the latter tendered him a note for £30 on the Bank of Ireland; that no one could be found who was willing to advance the money on the note. Mr. LAIDLAW applied at the Mayor's office for assistance, and METCALFE was arrested by Policemen attached to the office. When the parties were confronted mutual recriminations followed. METCALFE said he was "under the wings of the American Eagle," and intimated that the national bird would protect him from the persecution to which he claimed that LAIDLAW was endeavoring to subject him. The latter promised to appear before the Mayor this (Saturday) morning, and substantiate by affidavits the statements which he had made.

Amusements.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—DONIZETTI'S delightful opera of "Linda di Chamounix" was played here last night, and, although for the first time this season, failed to attract a crowded audience. It was well given, especially the Linda of Madame GASSIER, one of her best and most complete efforts. The opera afforded the new basso, Signor GARIBOLDI, an opportunity to make his mark, and he succeeded in doing so to the entire satisfaction of the audience. The quality of Signor GARIBOLDI'S voice is superb, and it is not deficient in quantity. He sings with good taste and feeling, but was visibly nervous, and scarcely did justice to himself. It is much to be regretted that so fine a voice should have had no earlier opportunity of making itself heard. Signor GASSIER, as the old father, was excellent in every respect, and Signor ASSONI quite up to the usual standard in the part of the Marquis. Miss PHILLIPS appeared to be laboring under a cold, but sang as she always does, deliciously, and with the ease and finish of a true artist. There are few such contraltos in the world.

The last matinée will be given to-day, when the opera of "Lucia di Lammermoor" will be performed.

TESTIMONIAL TO MAX MARETZEK.—We refer our readers to the programme of entertainments provided for Monday afternoon and evening—the benefit and last appearance of Mr. MARETZEK prior to his departure for Havana. Everything that can be desired in the way of singing and dancing is there. It is unnecessary, we are sure, to stimulate our readers to honor this testimonial with their presence. They know as well as ourselves how faithfully and industriously Mr. MARETZEK has labored in the cause of operatic music, and that without his labors opera never would have been permanently established in this City. Our immediate object is to remind the public that the sale of tickets commences to-day. Those who propose attending the demonstration will do well to secure their vouchers in time.

LAURA KEENE'S THEATRE.—A nonsensical burlesque of "Fra Diavolo" was produced here last night, with moderate success. It is, we fancy, an adaptation of an English piece produced in London some seasons back. The voyage across the Atlantic has not strengthened the humor, and a sojourn in the City has been rendered unhappy by the crude efforts of a local dramatist. There is nothing whatever to commend save the extravagant efforts of Messrs. JEFFERSON and PETERS, both of whom were "made up" wonderfully. Miss MACARTHY, the singing lady of the establishment, executed a great number of vocal pieces, with more or less success. If Miss MACARTHY could act, it would add materially to the importance of her performance. The most enjoyable thing in the burlesque was the dance of Mlle. LAMOUREUX.

MLLE. PICCOLOMINI'S DUBLIN RIDE.—MR. ULLMAN, the lessee of the Academy of Music, has addressed the following communication to the TIMES, on the subject of the scandals which are going the rounds of the press, concerning MLLE. PICCOLOMINI'S famous Dublin ride.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

SIR: I have always had a due sense of the importance of the newspaper press, both as a medium of publicity and an index of public opinion. But while the journalists may at times be ruled by false information, and thus draw the public into the paths of error, there exists among a certain class of them a desire to seize with the greatest avidity upon every "on dit" or gossip—(particularly if it affects the reputation of an artist who for the time being occupies a prominent place)—to satisfy the appetite for personal scandal, in which, as we think, the public might take delight. For the sake of this they do not hesitate to give pain, and do not take into account the injury they may inflict upon the feelings of a stranger in a foreign land. Such was the case when I brought to America the late Madame Sontag, who was so far shocked with an infamous newspaper attack sent to her on the day of her arrival, that she was on the point of returning to Europe without first having appeared before the American public.

In view of this state of things I have not been at all surprised to find that some of these persons, who are so admirably well-informed of the private life and personal affairs of artists, have made some wonderful discoveries in relation to Mlle. PICCOLOMINI, now on her way to this country. In these discoveries they are aided by the brigade of dead-heads, who, for the salvation of the opera, were placed last season on the retired list, and who, knowing that they will have always to pay or stay away, open their fires not upon me, the manager, but upon the artist on whose success so much depends. Allow me now to direct your attention to the following fair specimen of these paragraphs:

"With all the regard that Mlle. PICCOLOMINI professed to have for 'the dear Irish,' in the speech she made to the Dublin students the other day, when they drew her carriage in triumph through the streets, she does not seem to estimate them so highly as her own countrymen; for, under the same circumstances, some years ago, at Turin, she rebuked the outrageous enthusiasm of the populace, and insisted upon getting out of her carriage, saying that she would 'walk with them, as friends, but nothing could induce her to make Italians beasts of burden.' Beasts of burden is good. New-Yorkers will please make a note of the observation.

I confess I am not at all displeased at the publicity thus unintentionally given to an ovation, of which Mlle. PICCOLOMINI has been the recipient in her own country—in critical Italy—and that, too, in one of the most important musical cities. But is it just and fair to appeal to New-Yorkers "to make a note of observation?" when it has been extensively published in the London Times and other English papers, that Mlle. PICCOLOMINI did attempt to prevent the Dublin demonstration, but could not do so for several very excellent reasons. In the first place, she could not leave the carriage, as the rain was falling in torrents, then she could not speak sufficient English to make the students understand her; and, more than all, it is not so easy—as all Irishmen will agree—to restrain the Gownsmen of Trinity when they once have resolved to give vent to their proverbial enthusiasm.

Descending a step still lower on the scale, it is found that there are some writers who marry her (without previously consulting the interested parties) with an English Peer "as distinguished for his refined taste in les beaux arts as for his immense possessions and ancient pedigree," while others gravely assert that his (the Peer's) hand has been rejected by Mlle. PICCOLOMINI, and amply discuss the reasons that prompted her to do so. A weekly paper takes great pains in proving that she is only a "Princess" from her maternal side, and a "mere Countess," through her father. Now, Sir, I have yet to learn whether it is of any consequence to the public whether an artist has a pedigree two miles long or not, whether she marries a Lord or does not. Madame SONTAG did not come here as the Countess ROSSI; in the same manner PICCOLOMINI comes here as an artist, and not as a princess, which title she dropped on her first appearance in public, of her own free will, and not, as it is asserted, by command of Cardinal PICCOLOMINI. I, personally, in speaking of her to the public, have not made the slightest allusion to her "princely lineage;" and I trust the public will not forget that, after all, she is a young and enthusiastic girl, who has undoubted claims upon the kindness and good will of everybody, including that of the disappointed dead-heads, and that she has every right to retain her maiden name as long as she pleases.

I am the public's obedient servant,

ACADEMY OF MUSIC, Oct. 7, 1858. B. ULLMANN.

M. BOUDOISQUE, the active manager of the French Opera, in New-Orleans has just completed an important arrangement with Mr. ULLMAN, by which an advantageous exchange of artists will be effected, during the coming season. M. MUSARD and his solo players are about to give a series of masquerades, under the auspices of M. BOUDOISQUE. This is the first step.

Personal.

A natural curiosity is on exhibition in Boston, which is intended as a present to Queen VICTORIA. It is a block of New-Hampshire granite, bearing on its surface the exact resemblance of the top part of a tree, or shrub, all the lines of the foliage being clearly and perfectly visible. It is supposed the sprig or branch of a tree accidentally fell into a crevice in the rock, which afterwards, by the action of the frost, closed up, and in course of time the fresh, green bough became petrified into solid rock.

Another narrow escape at Niagara Falls is mentioned. During the storm of Thursday, Mr. C. J. THOMAS, of Niagara Falls Village, was swept towards the cataract, while attempting to cross in a light row-boat from Navy to Schlosser Islands. His boat capsized, but he clung to it till he was caught by two men on Navy Island, and towed in. Several times he gave himself up for lost.

The only surviving daughter of SCHILLER, who some years ago published the correspondence which passed between her parents in 1778 and 1789, is preparing for print the correspondence of SCHILLER'S widow with her friends and the literary notabilities of her time.

Mr. GEORGE B. BACON, of New-Haven, has accepted an invitation from President WOOLSEY, Professor SILLIMAN and others to deliver lectures on his travels in Siam, China and Japan.

M. LEVEEL, who sculptured the equestrian statue of NAPOLEON at Cherbourg, is to execute the one which is to be placed at Longwood, in St. Helena.

The Hon. JEFFERSON DAVIS, after a Summer sojourn in Maine, has returned to Boston, where he is to speak on Monday.

The fine collection of sandstone footprints from the Connecticut River, owned by Dr. ROSWELL FIELD, has been sold by him to Amherst College.

Mr. H. K. BROWNE, the sculptor, has lately completed a bust of Mrs. L. H. SIGOURNEY, and is about to model a bust of General SCOTT.

Mr. WEIR'S painting of Niagara Falls has been purchased in Boston by Major DAVIS, U. S. A.

Miss LANDER, the artist, is about to visit Italy.

FROM WASHINGTON.

The Departure of Sir William Gore Ouseley for Central America—Two of the Chartered Steamers Unseaworthy—Surrender of Collector Schell, &c.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Friday, Oct. 8.

Sir WILLIAM GORE OUSELEY leaves for Central America in the British war-steamer Valorous, which attended the Agamemnon while paying out the Atlantic cable. The Valorous has been attached to the Halifax station, and may be expected hourly at New-York. Sir WILLIAM will cross the Isthmus at Panama, and proceed thence in a British vessel up the coast to Realejo—thence by Leon to Granada. Afterwards he will locate at San José, in Costa Rica.

There is a strong disposition on the part of our Government to reject altogether the steamers Atlanta and Memphis, and substitute others. Should this be concluded on, a steamer now in New-Orleans will be chartered. The State Department is indignant at the delay of our officers in detecting the unseaworthiness of these vessels.

Captain PAGE has not left Washington, as stated in dispatches from here, but will proceed to New-York on Monday.

It is said that Mr. SCHELL has submitted to the dictation of the President and the Secretary of the Treasury, and has already sent to the latter, for confirmation, the names of more than fifty persons appointed to Custom-house places in the City of New-York. These appointments are understood to have been recommended by the several Members of Congress of that State, and all of them have been confirmed except one, and with him there was alleged to have been a personal difficulty between the Collector and himself. It is thus seen that Mr. SCHELL has finally been compelled to surrender to the Secretary of the Treasury. The capitulation took place yesterday. The result of this extraordinary battle is certain to disarm Mr. SCHELL of the hostile weapons he has been wielding against the Administration with the clique of politicians in the City of New-York, who are held here in utter detestation.

The Administration are determined to support, with all their power, the entire Democratic State Ticket of New-York. This is distinctly foreshadowed, and you may look for a nice bit of a family quarrel between the Administration and the factious Democrats of the State, who, whatever may be the position of the force of the Custom-House, will persist in efforts to defeat a section of the Democratic ticket of the City. This, at all events, is the impression here in official circles.

The militia of the District is about being thoroughly reorganized under the direction of the War Department. Colonel BAILY, of the Quartermaster's Office is spoken of in connection with the command of one of the new regiments. Q.

[FROM THE REPORTER OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

WASHINGTON, Friday, Oct. 8.

The Secretary of the Treasury has, on appeal decided that shaved shingles being manufactured and by other process than hewing or sawing, are not embraced in timber and lumber, admitted free under the reciprocity treaty with Great Britain, but subject to a duty of 24 per cent. He has also decided that walnuts and limes in salt and water are each chargeable 15 per cent.

JOHN L. BARNES, a master in the line of promotion in the navy, has resigned.

It is said that Governor DENVER declined to withdraw his resignation as Governor of Kansas.

Dr. CHARLES H. HITCHCOCK has been appointed inspector of drugs and medicines at San Francisco.

SILENCE OF THE UNION—THE ATTACKS UPON MR. DOUGLAS—NEWS FROM GLANCY JONES' DISTRICT—NICARAGUA.

WASHINGTON, Wednesday, Oct. 6, 1858.

Not a word yet from the Union in disparagement of Col. FORNEY'S authority for his statement at Tarrytown. That journal keeps on quietly in its steady attack upon Judge DOUGLAS, but does not see fit to say whether or no Col. SIMEON JOHNSON'S word is good yet in Washington. Having denounced Mr. FORNEY as a prevaricator and forger before his reply came out, it would of course now be beneath its dignity to defend one of its own editors. This style of controversy has great advantages over the usual, old-fashioned, polite method. Say stoutly before your opponent makes his defence that he is surely going to lie, and you've got him. If he don't lie, never mind, you have had the satisfaction of accusing him of it.

While the Union in defending Mr. BUCHANAN has a great deal to say about honor, and breach of confidence, the other Lecompton journals are trying to betray Mr. DOUGLAS, while the Union copies from them. It has no objection to the betrayal of Mr. DOUGLAS—but Mr. BUCHANAN'S post-promises and breaches of promise cannot be revealed without a loss of honor upon the part of the persons who speak out the truth.

The news from Pennsylvania here is, GLANCY JONES, the President's favorite, is having a very close run of it for his next term in Congress. He is trying the Protectionist dodge among the iron-makers, but the people of his District are a little afraid to trust him. Then his Lecomptonism is against him, though it was never of a very positive sort. The President would feel the defeat of Mr. GLANCY JONES more than that of any one of his supporters. It is for this very reason that the Opposition are so earnest, that Mr. FORNEY is upon the stump in his District, and that there is so much excitement there.

The Nicaraguan Government having humbled itself sufficiently in making an apology for its conduct in the Belly contract, General JEREZ has been received as Minister from Nicaragua.

Nicaragua seems inclined to court all parties with equal assiduity. Great Britain, France and the United States have about an equal chance with her in negotiating, and she stands ready to grant each in its turn special favors. Sir OUSELEY need not feel too sure of his bargain—General JEREZ doubtless will make another with us annulling the obnoxious provisions of the British treaty. VYR.

In the Ninth District Hon. ELI THAYER, Republican, has been unanimously nominated for reelection to Congress.

Disaster on Lake Ontario.

OSWEGO, Friday, Oct. 8.

A strong gale of wind sprung up yesterday afternoon and a heavy sea was rolling all night and this morning. The schooner Ospray, of Buffalo, with a cargo of wheat from Racine, for this port, was driven against the east pier, carrying away her spars, and sank immediately. The captain's wife and child and the mate were washed overboard and drowned.

OSWEGO, Friday—P. M.

The wind continues to blow with unabated violence, and the sea is still swollen. Several vessels arrived, last night and to-day, more or less damaged, and great fears were entertained for the safety of those now out. The schooner Ospray lies inside the piers a total wreck. The bodies of the mate and Captain's wife and child, who were washed overboard, have not yet been recovered.

Railroad Accident.

PIERMONT, N. Y., Friday, Oct. 8.

The Rockland County train on the Piermont Branch of the Erie Railroad ran into the rear end of a freight train, this morning, near Monsey. One person, named TRACY, was severely injured.

The First Snow of the Season.

HORNELLSVILLE, N. Y., Friday, Oct. 8.

Snow fell in this village last night to the depth of three inches. The storm, commencing at the lakes, extended east along the Erie Railroad as far as Great Bend, and snow fell at almost all the intermediate places.

Fires.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE IN WATERBURY, VT.

A fire broke out here at 2 o'clock this morning, in the store of Wells & Arms, which was destroyed, together with five stores, the hotel and stable, the Town Hall, the building occupied by the Bank, a dwelling house and four barns. A large quantity of flour was also consumed. Some of the sufferers saved a portion of their stock and furniture. Loss estimated at $25,000; insured for $12,000.

Norfolk, Friday, Oct. 8.

The United States Surveying steamer Firefly, which was reported to be lost, is safe at Beaufort, South Carolina.

Another Female Handles the Cowhide.

Mrs. Ann Burges, a woman neither very young nor remarkably handsome, assaulted with a cowhide, in his store No. 41 Warren-street, her brother-in-law, Mr. Joseph Burges. She laid on the blows both fast and thick, which caused a disturbance so great that a Policeman interfered and made a prisoner of Mrs. Burges and took her before Justice Welsh at the City Hall Police Court. A great crowd followed after, for, as a matter of course, such an event was not long in reaching the ears of the many who always find time to follow up and learn the particulars. The offending cowhide was also brought into Court, as was the cowhided, who made complaint of assault and battery in due form. He did not appear to have suffered severely in person, but he was evidently greatly mortified. Mrs. Burges admitted having committed the assault, but pleaded justification because (as she said) her accuser had greatly maligned her fair fame by oft-repeated slander, which he refused to retract.

Justice Welsh said he deemed the excuse insufficient. He had no sympathy whatever with a woman who would so unsex herself as to publicly attack and commit physical violence upon one who could make no resistance—for no man could, even in such a case, raise his hand against his female assailant. Such an assault was calculated to place a stigma upon the assailed, even though he were really innocent of any offence. Women aggrieved had their proper remedies by applying to the Courts, either criminal or civil, as the case might be. But this assault was especially reprehensible, because the assailant was neither a "lone" nor "unprotected female." She had a husband to whom she should confide the use of the cowhide, if the use of such an instrument were considered necessary in defending her honor. He thought it was time an example should be made of women seeking notoriety by means of the cowhide, and he should therefore hold the accused for trial at the Special Session, and require bail in the sum of $300 for her appearance.

The required bail was soon furnished, and Mrs. Burges departed, seemingly surprised at the serious light in which the matter was viewed.

Chamber of Commerce.

At the quarterly meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, Thursday evening, at Clinton Hall, Astor-place, a communication was received from the Mayor, requesting their opinion upon his proposition to construct a wharf and pier on the west bank, to allow vessels undergoing Quarantine to unload their cargoes.

Capt. C. H. Marshall had some objections to the plan recommended. He was of opinion that the storms of Winter would sweep away the piles on which the dock would rest. The wharf and pier might offer a considerable obstruction to the navigation of the Harbor. He thought the project of building up a permanent Quarantine was not well conceived. Five acres were talked of, but twenty would hardly be sufficient. He was at a loss to know how the dead would be buried, or fresh water obtained at such a Quarantine.

The subject was referred to a Committee consisting of Messrs. Robert B. Minturn, Adam Norrie, Benj. B. Sherman, John B. Jones, Joseph Gaillard, R. W. Weston, and Capt. Ezra Nye.

A communication was received from Mr. Hamilton Merritt, Esq., of St. Catharine's, Canada, the gist of which was in the concluding paragraph:

"The object of this representation is to point out the different Imperial and Provincial acts under which these rapid advances in the commercial intercourse have been made with the United States, and suggest for the consideration of the Chamber of Commerce of New York to take the initiative, and adopt such measures at their next session as may induce the Secretary of the Treasury to revoke the existing restrictions under the regulations of 1858, and revive the Treasury circular of 1855, thereby restoring the trade which has proved mutually beneficial to the two countries.

The communication was referred to a Committee, consisting of Messrs. Royal Phelps, J. Depuyster Ogden, Henry Chauncey, Walter Griffith, and Col. Reed. The Chairman, Mr. Royal Phelps, said he thought the subject well worthy of attention.

Yellow Fever Report.—At the meeting of the Commissioners of Health yesterday, the Health Officer submitted a statistical report showing that a much greater number of infected vessels and imported cases of yellow fever have arrived at Quarantine during the past two months than at any previous and similar period since the establishment of the institution.

The whole number of cases of yellow fever admitted to the Marine Hospital, Quarantine, during August and September, 1858, was as follows:

From Havana	26	From New-Orleans	28
From Sagua	2	From Charleston	8
From Port au Prince	2	From the village	7
From Mantanzas	2	From wharf stevedores	7
From Cardenas	3	From lightermen	2
From St. Jago	3	From U. S. ship Susquehannah	1
From Trinidad	2
From Cienfuegos	3
Total			96

Of this number 75 have recovered, and 21 died. The following is a list of the dead:

Aug. 5, John Nichols, sailor, New-Orleans.
Aug. 5, Sewell Bitchell, 2d mate, New-Orleans.
Aug. 6, Marquis Foster, sailor, New-Orleans.
Aug. 7, John McGuire, sailor, Havana.
Aug. 12, Wm. Rogers, sailor, Matanzas.
Aug. 12, Wm. Russell, sailor, Havana.
Aug. 12, Hugh Ward, passenger, Trinidad.
Aug. 13, Mary Hendrickson, servant, Trinidad.
Aug. 14, John Emery, stevedore, Trinidad.
Aug. 21, Patrick Blake, stevedore, New-Orleans.
Aug. 21, Henry Antony, stevedore, New-Orleans.
Aug. 24, Charles Williams, sailor, New-Orleans.
Aug. 24, Richard Short, sailor, Havana.
Aug. 24, Ichabod Thomas, sailor, St. Jago.
Aug. 24, John Lawrence, sailor, Port au Prince.
Aug. 29, Edward McKay, sailor, Charleston.
Aug. 30, Alfred Wilks, engineer, New-Orleans and Havana.
Sept. 5, Castinine Grech, sailor, Havana.
Sept. 6, Wm. Murray, sailor, Lower Bay.
Sept. 14, Eliza Myers, servant, New-Orleans.
Sept. 20, Wm. Stewart, steward, Charleston.

The Board adjourned to Saturday.

Arrest of the Murderer McMahon.—We are gratified to learn that a dispatch was received yesterday by Mayor Bigelow from Chief of Police Whitney, dated St. Louis, stating that James McMahon, who murdered Mrs. Ann McMahon in this city on the 19th of September, had been arrested in that city. We are without any details as to the arrest, but the simple fact is in the highest degree gratifying. The murder was a most atrocious one, and as the finding of the Coroner's jury, upon ample evidence, indicated McMahon as the guilty party, he can hardly escape the punishment due to his crime. Chief Whitney will, of course, receive the reward of $500 offered by the Governor for McMahon's apprehension.—Newark Mercury.

Another Survivor of the Austria.—Mr. John Cox, one of the Austria's survivors, communicates to the Boston Herald of the 5th an account of his experiences on board the burning steamship. His statement confirms the reports regarding the perfect inefficiency of the officers, the fright of the captain, and the uselessness of the pumps. In other points it repeats the accounts we have already published.

THE STATE FAIR.

The Fair a Great Success—The Salient Points of Syracuse—Inventors who lost by the Crystal Palace Fire—Funny Incidents—Fruit Culture—The Pomology of the Fair—Cattle, &c.

Correspondence of the New-York Times.

Syracuse, Thursday, Oct. 7, 1858.

This was to have been the great day of the feast, but I fear it will prove a Barmecide repast, for the murky sky and occasional showers must dampen the enthusiasm as well as lessen the attendance. The Fair has been considered a great success—the receipts being considerably in advance of last year, and the promise of attendance during the remaining days of the Fair large.

Yesterday the atmosphere was an ocean of dust: to day the earth is a sea of mud, and the mud of this locality has no parallel in tenacity, unless it be the saffron-colored clay of New-Jersey. The roads yesterday were as difficult of navigation as Broadway, but made so by an infinitely less number of vehicles, driven by excited individuals whose vermicular course seemed to intertwine a much greater number. There seemed to be a Congress of broken-down stages, perhaps assembled to put down railroads. Every contrivance which was ever used to carry passengers to Cicero-Four-Corners, or Pompey Hills—to Hard-scrabble, or Toad Hollow—is present here, in venerable dilapidation.

Don't consider these as a nomenclature of my own invention, for they represent actual localities a few miles from here. Syracuse, said a cynical friend, is a place where four railroads meet; the inhabitants of which subsist, one-half by selling salt, and the other half by selling strangers, with a small intermediate fraction who exist by selling each other. It is a city of hotels and salt blocks, with canals and railroads running between. The invitations to eat by bells and vociferations create such a din that, while it confounds one almost to stupidity, suggests immense digestion and inexhaustible supply. A free ticket to dinner was politely tendered to your correspondent yesterday upon the Fair grounds, which he exchanged for some of the greatest curiosities of aliment ever seen. A hemlock board dining-saloon, with the blessed sunlight streaming between each course of deals, was crowded with most ravenous and disgusted individuals. What a world of ingenuity must have been exhausted in contriving the abominable cookery, and wretched serving of the really good materials furnished!

I do not much wonder that Nature has become disgusted, and rots the potato, when not one kitchen attendant in a hundred knows how to cook one.

The burning of the Crystal Palace created much consternation and dismay among the inventors present who had models and machinery there. Mr. A. B. Allen, of Water-street, informs me that he had nearly $2,000 worth of agricultural implements on exhibition. I did not expect, however, on announcing the event to some friends, to hear a bystander ask where the Crystal Palace was. I was greatly taken back by some misplaced sympathy I expended upon an exhibitor of a stocking-knitting machine. Believing him to be interested in those beautiful knitters that were working in the Palace, as his machine seemed identical in principle, I said: "My friend, I am sorry to inform you that your machines in the Palace have been destroyed by fire." His reply was an enigma, as he laughed with most inappropriate glee. But the mystery was solved when he added, "Why, you don't say so—but them's very different machines from mine. This here's an entire new principle—let me show ye." But his abominable delight at the disaster of a rival had driven me a long way off. As a Manager of the American Institute, your correspondent felt most keenly that "Othello's occupation's gone." No more of those semi-weekly dinners, for the eating of which he has been so often abused by the Tribune. Will the latter bury its animosity in the grave? I think it will, for no one here seems to regret our loss more sincerely than Solon Robinson.

I resume the description of the more important novelties or improvements exhibited. Schooley's fruit and milk preservatory effects an important object in the economy of many a family. That it is the most economical in the preservation of ice that will yet be made is a question, but one of most inferior importance, for it does perform the object desired. Milk was brought into the one on the ground, and in six hours six inches in depth of very ordinary-looking milk had thrown up more than an inch of solid cream. The temperature maintained here, with the frequent opening and shutting of the door by visitors, ranges from 34° to 40°, and the beef exposed to it is as firm and hard as tallow and muscle ever become. The air is dry, resembling one of those cool, bracing, frosty morning atmospheres one so loves in Indian Summer. The whole of this important improvement is attained by placing the fruit and milk room beside the mass of ice, instead of under or over it, and by directing a current of air over and under the latter in such manner as to deprive it of humidity. Bartlett pears have been kept perfect in it until January, and milk is sweet after two weeks' age. To fruiterers this is very important. Some varieties of pears ripen so irregularly that there are seldom enough in condition for market, but by this means they can be kept until they ripen uniformly.

4 o'clock, P. M.—The dismal anticipations of this morning have not been realized, for the day has become beautifully clear, and an immense throng of visitors are moving through the ground. The receipts promise to reach the maximum of former years.

The development and extension of fruit culture as exhibited here excites my liveliest interest. Districts of territory which were supposed to possess a climate too inclement for the more delicate fruits, are continually surprising horticulturists by producing the most perfect specimens. Chemung County, which but a few years since possessed scarce an orchard or a grape vine, and whose farmers were accustomed to carry away a load of lumber and exchange for a load of apples, is here the premium county for apples and grapes. The most perfect Isabella and Catawba grapes I have seen exhibited this year came from this reputed cold country.

Nearly equal to these are the same varieties grown in Onondaga County, and in grounds which I remember fifteen years since refused year after year to ripen these capricious fruits.

An important lesson is to be learned from these facts, and one which horticulturists are now conning over with earnestness.

There are Isabella and Catawba, also, from Chatauque County, grown by Messrs. Morse & Bartholomew, with wines, made without sugar, from their vineyards, pronounced by good judges to be equal to good hock wines.

Steuben County exhibits, through Mr. Noble Hill, a splendid assortment of cranberries, growing upon the vines.

Mr. Hill is about planting eighteen acres of upland with this fruit, and if as successful on that tract as he has been on one acre, must reap sufficient profit to satisfy a plain, intelligent farmer, as he seems to be.

Beautiful Concord, Diana and Rebecca grapes ripen in Herkimer County, and are exhibited by J. D. Ingersol, who says that the Isabella will not perfect itself there. Another fact for the theory of adaptation; and when cultivators of fruits and grains, and breeders of cattle and horses, learn this beautiful lesson from nature, and practice it, there will be few disappointments. The Rebecca is also exhibited as grown in Columbia County. Mr. Rycoman, of Chenango County—the reputed cold lumber County—obtained the first premium for Isabella and Catawba grapes. I do not think Dr. Underhill ever produced finer. Tompkins County sends a fine collection of grapes. Several promising seedlings are also shown.

Mr. Rufus Cossit, of Onondaga, four miles south of here, has two acres of Isabella vines, planted twenty and twenty-five years, which produce this year over two hundred bushels of well-ripened grapes.

A son, Mr. Davis Cossit, is the person reported last night as obtaining so many premiums for Saxon sheep, but his premiums are increased to-day. He obtains four first-class premiums for Saxon ewes and bucks; one silver medal for fine fleeces from do.: a silver medal for fine fleeces from merinos; three first-class premiums for merino ewes and bucks, and one or two in cross fine sheep, or merino and Saxon crossed—making a total of money premiums of about $100.

Retournez à nos Moutons: The show of pears by Messrs. Thorp, Smith and Hanchet, of Syracuse, is very large and beautiful.

One very commendable feature of the show by these gentlemen is the large quantity of each variety exhibited, being seldom less than 12 to 20. I should think not less than 150 varieties have succeeded so well on their grounds that they are able to exhibit considerable numbers of each. Eight squashes grown on one vine by Mr. George Raynor, of Syracuse, weigh 420 pounds, two of which nearly reach 90 pounds each.

There are some 40 varieties of potatoes on exhibition, but the value of the collection is much lessened by the absence of any data regarding their respective productiveness. Twenty of these are exhibited by Mr. B. C. Butler. The leading varieties for general culture are the Peach Blow, Mountain June, Strawberry or Mexican, and the Prince Albert. The excellence of the last is well indicated by the number of its synonyms. From Maine and Long Island I have received it as the Napoleon, and here it has at least half a dozen names.

The potato crop in this county is declared by all to be excellent, no rot or other disease has appeared; the tubers are large, sound and smooth, and every farmer with whom I have conversed seems satisfied. A collection of immense potatoes labelled Ash-Leafed Kidneys, attracted great attraction, one of the tubers measuring something over a foot in length, and three inches in diameter. There is a good deal of experiment in potatoes and the old stock varieties are threatened with a loss of rank by the new comers. Mr. Wm. S. Carpenter, of Westchester County, exhibited at the Crystal Palace 36 varieties, of the production of which he has preserved accurate statistics. The corn in this county is a large crop and well ripened, the favorite variety being the large twelve-rowed Dutton.

On a farm near the City an old Onondaga farmer harvested from eight acres something over 310 bushels of Mediterranean Wheat, or nearly 40 bushels per acre. Three years since, from six acres he obtained 43 bushels and three pecks per acre. The ground was fallowed and plowed twelve inches deep.

The trial of ox-teams was one of prominent interest to many persons present, and its practical value not excelled by any other part of the Show. Six yoke of three-year-old steers were successively attached to a wagon loaded by 1,300 weight of pig iron and ten stout men, making a total of not less than 2,700 or 2,800 pounds. A most beautiful pair of grade Devons, owned by Osmur Datus, of Jefferson County, obtained the premium. A pair of grade Hereford steers, owned by A. & H. Bowen, nearly, if not quite, equaled them, but took no premium. A pair of smaller grade Devons were as beautiful, gentle and sleek as rabbits. Their quick movement and fine powers of draught, combined with their beauty, were subjects of general admiration. A pair of Durham grades and a yoke of native steers took premiums of a lower class.

The meetings for discussion were held this and last evening at the Voorhies House. Three hundred of the best-looking men I have seen since the Pomological Society's meeting, met this evening, and a considerable number joined in the discussions, with an earnestness, directness and intelligence that was really refreshing.

I have never heard so many good, well-delivered speeches in one evening, that I can remember. Locke's essay on eloquence was immediately brought to my mind.

The foundation of eloquence, he declares to be the perfect knowledge of the subject, as he had heard a common blacksmith eloquent on the subject of forging iron.

It is edifying beyond ordinary expression to hear a number of men speaking upon subjects of which they know something, but I shall reserve a selection from the observations of these practical men until the last evening, in order to combine the most valuable of them into one paper. T. W. F.

Close of the New-York State Fair, &c.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]

Syracuse, Friday, Oct. 8.

The Fair closed to-day with fine but very cold weather. The receipts of the last two days have fallen off on account of the weather.

The aggregate receipts are a little under $10 000. This morning a display of all the prize cattle together took place in the horse-ring. This is a new feature in the proceedings, and affords an opportunity to farmers to compare the different breeds together, and decide upon their respective merits. The value of the cattle in the ring at the same time was estimated at $100,000.

An exhibition of all the prize horses also took place.

At one o'clock Mr. Williams, President of the Michigan State Agricultural Society, delivered an address to the Society, before a very large audience. Col. Johnson, Secretary of the Society, then announced the prizes from a stand. Large silver medals were awarded as discretionary premiums to the Elliptic Bed-Spring Company and Pease's Railroad Oil Factory in Buffalo. The first premium on thorough bred stallions of 4 years and upwards was awarded to J. H. Hawthorne, of Utica, and the second to L. W. Wilkinson, of Syracuse.

The first premium for thorough-bred stallions of three years old was awarded to J. J. Briggs, of Salina. The payment of premiums commence this afternoon, and at 4 o'clock the exhibitors were rapidly removing their goods from the ground.

There was a slight fall of snow to-day.

Sea and Ship News.

The Prince Albert—Proposed Flag Presentation.—A large and respectable meeting took place last evening at Tammany Hall to make arrangements for presenting a flag to Captain Waters upon the next sailing of the Prince Albert on the 18th inst. Mr. McMahon presided. A Committee was appointed to carry out the objects of the meeting, and subscriptions were received. Among others an enthusiastic letter inclosing $5 was received from Miss Mary A. Carr, the reading of which elicited much enthusiasm. Miss Theresa Esmonde has consented to make the presentation. The design of the flag is the American ministerial crest, encircled by the shamrock, inclosing the Harp of Erin, and having the inscription, "To Captain Thomas J. Waters, Prince Albert," beneath.

Sailing of the Harriet Lane.—The United States steamer Harriet Lane, Capt. John Faunce, left her anchorage off the Battery about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. She goes first to St. Thomas, W. I., where she will coal, and proceed thence to Buenos Ayres, where she will await the arrival of the remainder of the Paraguayan Expedition. The Harriet Lane, though not so large as some of her associates in the fleet, is considered the handsomest vessel connected with the expedition, and Captain Faunce is recognized as one of the most gallant commanders in the service in which he has spent over 25 years. If there is an active service to be performed, it is confidently predicted by those who know Capt. Faunce best that the Harriet Lane will give a good account of herself. She has anchored for a short time at Quarantine.

The Water Witch, which is almost the twin steamer of the Harriet Lane, arrived at the Gosport Navy-yard on Wednesday last, and anchored near the Fulton. She was visited by several officials from the Navy-yard, and pronounced to be in excellent trim. A letter to the Journal of Commerce describes the Fulton's outfit as follows:

"We are provisioned for four months; have on board 280 tons of coal, of which we will consume, at average, about twelve tons a day; our 11-inch and 2-inch guns go out in the Supply; the whole of our forecastle is taken up with another gun, the carriage of which, also, goes out in the storeship. The most novel affair we have on board is a new kind of sea anchor, which arrived here on Saturday. It is about fifteen feet long, and is constructed something like the leaf of an umbrella, braced with wood and made of canvass; the centre is iron, and by throwing this machinery overboard in a heavy sea, the ship would be instantly hove to, were the water ever so deep. We have four tents on board, twelve thousand shells, three thousand Minié rifle balls, three thousand carbine balls, fifteen thousand percussion caps, sixty-four muskets, (of which fourteen belong to the guard,) one hundred pistols, fifty Sharp's carbines.

We measure 690 tons, the Water Witch 360. We will go from Barbadoes direct to Rio, as we will be able to take in coal enough at the former place, should no unfortunate accident occur. Our companion, the Water Witch, can only carry eight days' coal, and should she meet with contrary winds, must appeal to the generosity of Ventosas."

List of Officers attached to the United States Steamer Water Witch.—The Water Witch was at Gosport, Va., Navy-yard on the 5th of October, ready for sea:

Lieutenant Commanding—Robert B. Pegram.
Lieutenants—Alphonse Barbot, Dulany A. Forrest, Edward T. Spedden, Francis H. Baker.
Passed-Assistant Surgeon—Charles F. Fahs.
Purser—(Acting)—Thomas M. Brower.
Captain's Clerk—John C. Pegram.
Surgeon's Steward—John Wiley.
First Assistant-Engineer—Wm. C. Wheeler.
Second Assistant-Engineer—Robert W. McCleery.
Third Assistant-Engineers—B. B. H. Wharton, B. E. Chassaing, Charles A. Chipley.
Orderly Sergeant—Hearn.

A New Steamer Under Way.—The Virginia Steamship Company, who are the proprietors of the steamers Roanoke and Jamestown, have concluded a contract with Wm. H. Webb for the construction of a new steamer to run upon the line between this City, Norfolk and Richmond. The increase in the business of the line requires this additional vessel, which will be ready by the 1st of next June. She will be about one hundred tons larger than the Jamestown, and will probably be commanded by Capt. Parrish, of that steamer. She will be superior in style of accommodations to even the present popular steamers on that line.

The Rumored Sale of the Collins Steamers.—The statements that the steamers Atlantic and Baltic have been purchased for the purpose of placing them upon the California route, is premature. Parties have been negotiating for them, but up to a late hour yesterday, no sale had been made. The price asked for the two is $800,000.

The Russian frigate General Admiral was, yesterday, to have been taken on to the Dry Dock to receive her first suit of copper, but, owing to the heavy northwest blow, it was postponed.

The Ohio State-House on Fire—Great Loss of Valuable Documents.

From the Ohio Statesman, Oct. 6.

About 5 o'clock yesterday morning those of our citizens residing in the vicinity of the State Capitol buildings were aroused by the alarm of fire, given by the workmen on the artesian well in the State-House yard. It was discovered that the basement-room, in the northeast corner of the building, directly under the office of the Secretary of State, and used by the Secretary as a store-room and by workmen as a paint-shop, was being rapidly enveloped in flames. A few minutes after the first alarm the steam fire engine was on the ground, and was soon followed by the "Capitol" machine. An immense volume of smoke escaped through the two windows, followed by sheets of flame leaping up into the very faces of the firemen, making it extremely difficult to reach the point from which the fire arose, as all the avenues leading to the room were locked and full of smoke. A large pile of stationery, wrapping and printing paper, in a corner of the subterranean room, was wrapped in flames, and it was almost impossible to reach it with water.

But the strenuous exertions of the firemen were successful and the flames succumbed after an hour's hard work. The room was opened, but for some minutes was as hot as a furnace. The stationery in the room, valued at about $400, was totally destroyed. Almost $300 worth of heavy glass, just placed in the room the day before, was a total loss. Considerable painting apparatus and raw materials, valued at from two to three hundred dollars, belonging to the contractor, Hamilton Cummings, of Cincinnati, were destroyed. Five or six hundred volumes of public documents, embracing the only complete set extant of documents from the first organization of the Territorial Government to the present time, were totally ruined. These documents were of great value as records, and it will be impossible to replace them. Their real value is incalculable, though probably the whole lot would not have sold for $100. The total loss of the State will probably reach $500, aside from the expense of repairing the room, the walls, windows and doors of which are considerably damaged. As to the origin of the fire, nothing is known.

SCHNAPPS AT LOW PRICES.

Wolfe's Schiedam Aromatic Schnapps.

Hotel keepers, bar-rooms and private families can now supply themselves with Wolfe's genuine Aromatic Schnapps at a less price than the common Holland Gin is sold at in this market, exclusive of bottles, box and bottling.

The subscriber has now on hand several thousand pipes of Schnapps, which he manufactured and imported during the revulsion last Fall, when he had the selection of the whole grain market of Schiedam.

The Schnapps now on hand is represented by the foreman of the distillery to be superior to any Schnapps ever manufactured by me.

The numerous laughter-provoking verses of this well-known humorous and sparkling American writer, which, so widely copied, have so often convulsed the reader, are here collected in book-form, and make a more attractive volume than has been issued in many years.

Lewis Gaylord Clark, of the Knickerbocker Magazine, says: "The bones of those who have exploded in the perusal of the verses of K. N. Pepper whiten the soil of the United States, from the Rocky Mountains on the East to the extreme West. 'A noad to the Grek Slaiv' is as immortal as the Statoo which inspired it."

Sold by all booksellers, and sent by mail to any part of the United States, on receipt of price—$1.

OUR FLAG TRIUMPHANT!!!

JUNE 25, 1858.

To Messrs. Hartsook & Elsom, Howardsville, Va.:

Dear Sirs: Please send me another box of Morehead's Magnetic Plaster. I have used one box of late, and find it acts like a charm in cases of pain. There is no danger of your recommending it too strong to the community; it will come in for a share of opposition, but never mind that, its own merits are sufficient to sustain it, and I have no doubt but it is destined to march boldly over the field of victory, though Old General Calomel and Major Blue Pill stand in the way backed by a whole army of death-dealing nostrums and poisons, with their countless aching limbs and ruined constitutions to oppose it. Morehead deserves the gratitude of the afflicted and plenty of dimes for his invaluable Plaster.

JAMES AMONETH,
Lock Nos. 33 and 34, of the James River and Kanawha Canal.

MOREHEAD'S MAGNETIC PLASTER is sold by all druggists everywhere. Price 25 cents a box.

HODGES & CROSS'
YANKEE SAUCE

Is delicate, rich and pungent. It is unequaled by any Table Sauce in either hemisphere to add relish and flavor to all kinds of Meats, Fish, Oysters, Salads, Lobsters, Greens, Soups, Boiled Vegetables, Cold Dishes, etc.

Every Family, Hotel, Restaurant and Steamboat should have it. Sold by all Grocers for 25 cents.

TO CLERGYMEN, EDITORS, SCHOLARS and all who perform severe mental labor. Watts' Nervous Antidote will give instant relief to the over-taxed brain; will give clearness to the intellect, strength to the nerves; will insure good sleep and appetite, and is a stimulant from which there is no reaction. It will utterly annihilate all nervous affections, neuralgia, in its most violent forms, rheumatism, epilepsy, convulsions, nervous headache, coughs, bronchitis, night sweats, mental or physical debility, delirium-tremens, &c. It will restore manhood to its pristine vigor after years of excess and disease. We solemnly assert this, and to those who doubt, we will send, post free, a circular containing hundreds of certificates from residents of New-York, and we guarantee and refund the money in every case where the Antidote is not beneficial. $1 per bottle. JOHN PYNE & CO., Proprietors, No. 109 Nassau-st., and druggists generally.

INSTRUCTION

MOUNT WASHINGTON COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE, No. 218 4th-st., (entrance No. 154 Macdougal-st.,) on Washington-square, opened its Sixteenth Academic year on Monday, Sept. 13, 1858.

This is a Private High School, furnishing the pupil with a solid and finished education. Numerous counting-houses of this City, as well as many colleges, can testify to the thoroughness with which pupils of this Institution have, during the past fifteen years, completed their academic course. The location is unsurpassed. The Principals, who devote themselves to supervision and instruction, erected and arranged the building expressly for the institution. They employ ten accomplished professors and teachers.

The rooms and furniture have been thoroughly renovated, and a stage is employed daily to convey small boys at a distance to and from the school.

Students preparing for the Sophomore Class of College have just commenced the Freshmen Course. Classes in Surveying and higher Mathematics generally, are in process of formation. Those in French, German, Spanish, Book-keeping, Commercial Arithmetic, Penmanship, Drawing and Painting are already arranged.

One of the Principals takes special charge of the younger scholars, who are received under superior advantages at seven years of age. An effectual method for acquiring a correct use of English and of eradicating all errors in spelling is in successful operation.

The building is well ventilated throughout, and pupils of all the departments enjoy at the recesses, cheerful open-air exercise in the retired playground of Washington-square.

Parents are particularly invited to visit this unique establishment during its daily sessions, and witness the character and mode of the instruction imparted. Circulars procured at the Institute and at the Broadway bookstores contain full particulars. Acquaintances of its present patrons are referred to them for reliable information.

LOAN OF $1,490,500—HANNIBAL AND ST. JOSEPH RAILROAD BONDS.—The Hannibal and St. Joseph Railroad Company will, until Saturday, the 14th day of August next, at noon, receive at the office of the Fiscal Agency, in Boston, sealed proposals for the purchase of $1,490,500 of their Land Bonds, in sums of $500 or $1,000.

A statement of the condition of the Company is in preparation, by which it will be apparent that the sale of their bonds will, with the other available resources of the Company, afford sufficient means to open the road through early next Spring.

The bonds now offered form the balance of the issue of $5,000,000, secured by a first mortgage to William H. Swift, Sidney Bartlett and Nathaniel Thayer, Trustees, upon the lands granted to the Company, and are payable in twenty-five years from April 1, 1856, with interest, semi-annually, at 7 per cent. per annum.

The taker of each bond will receive a certificate, giving him the optional right to take at any time within one year after the cars run through from Hannibal to St. Joseph, an equal amount in the stock of the Company, subject to assessments as follows: $5 per share upon electing to take the stock and receiving the certificate of scrip, and not over $30 per share during any six months thereafter.

The said assessments will be receivable in any of the Land Bonds of the Company now offered, with proper adjustment of interest.

10 per cent. on each subscription to the loan will be payable on the 17th day of August next, and will be retained as security, without issuing bonds therefor, until the whole of such subscription is paid up.
20 per cent. on the 17th of September.
20 per cent. on the 17th of October.
20 per cent. on the 17th of November.
20 per cent. on the 17th of December.
10 per cent. on the 17th of January.

For each installment, except the first, bonds will be issued, with proper adjustment of interest, when payments are made; or payments may be made earlier, by notifying the Treasurer of the Fiscal Agency thereof, at the time the first payment is made.

The proceeds of the sales of the 600,000 acres of land of the Company is appropriated, as fast as received, to the payment of the bonds, at par, by lot, and the bonds are receivable, as cash, in payment for the lands of the Company.

Upon the above conditions the Loan will be awarded to the highest responsible bidders, the Company reserving to themselves the right to consider the responsibility of the parties making the proposals, as well as the rate offered.
R. S. WATSON,
Treasurer of the Fiscal Agency,
No. 45 City Exchange, Boston, Mass.

RICORD'S PRACTICE.—C. D. HAMMOND, M. D., pupil of RICORD, of Paris, (who is the first Venereal Surgeon living,) and of Professors CARNOCHAN and MOTT, of this City, continues the practice of this specialty, at No. 61 Bleecker-st., eighth house east of Broadway, New-York. All complicated disorders of the Sexual System effectually treated, including Weaknesses, &c., &c. Consultations in English, French, and by letter. Office hours from 9 to 1, and 5 to 8 in the evening.

SANDS' SARSAPARILLA.
GENUINE!!
This long-established and popular remedy for purifying the blood, and the cure of ulcerous and eruptive disorders, may be taken at this season of the year, with salutary effect, by every one. No change of diet necessary. Prepared and sold by A. B. & D. SANDS, Druggists, No. 100 Fulton-st., New-York.

TRIESEMAR PROTECTED BY ROYAL Letters-Patent of England, and secured by the Seals of the Ecole de Pharmacie de Paris, and the Imperial College of Medicine, Vienna. TRIESEMAR No. 1 is a remedy for relaxation, spermatorrhea, and exhaustion of the system. TRIESEMAR No. 2 effectually, in the short space of three days, completely and entirely eradicates all traces of those disorders which copavia and cubebs have so long been thought an antidote for, to the ruin of the health of a vast portion of the population. TRIESEMAR No. 3 is a great Continental remedy for that class of disorders which, unfortunately, the English physicians treats with mercury, to the inevitable destruction of the patient's constitution, and which all the sarsaparilla in the world cannot remove. TRIESEMAR Nos. 1, 2 and 3 are alike devoid of taste or smell, and of all nauseating qualities. They may lie on the toilet table without their use being suspected. Sold in tin cases, and divided in separate doses, as administered by Velpeau, Lalleman, Roux, Ricord, &c., &c. Price $3 each, or four cases in one for $9, which saves $3, and in $27 cases. Sold by Dr. H. A. BARROW, No. 157 Prince-st., a few blocks west of Broadway, New-York. Immediately on receipt of the amount, Dr. B. will forward the $9 cases of TRIESEMAR, and the large sizes, carriage paid, thus insuring genuine European preparations. The $3 cases also sent, but not free of carriage. Consultations as usual, from 11 A. M. till 2 P. M., and from 4 till 8 P. M., at No. 157 Prince-st., a few blocks west of Broadway.

DR. WATSON HAS, FOR A LONG SERIES of years, confined his attention to diseases of a certain class, in which he has treated a vast number of cases with a success which has won for him the confidence of the public. The remedies are mild, and there is no interruption to business or change of diet. Dr. WATSON receives patients in separate consulting rooms from 8 A. M. to 8 P. M., at No. 459 Broome-st., second block west of Broadway.

Dr. Watson's Work, THE CAUSE AND CURE, issued simultaneously in London and New-York, is the only one which clearly explains the nature and mode of treatment of the VENEREAL DISEASE in all its different forms; but treats also in full of SPERMATORRHŒA, or Seminal Weakness, and Premature Exhaustion, the result of early indiscretion, excess, or other causes. Anatomical plates of a superior kind, and drawings of every form of disease. Price $1, post paid. "Dr. WATSON'S Work has been written by a person of great practical knowledge, and we cordially recommend it."—Medical Journal.
Sold by the Author, as above; also by J. W. JUDD, No. 222 Broadway, and by CHARLES MILLER, No. 436 Broadway, New-York.

RICORD'S, VELPEAU'S, CIVIALE'S, ACTON'S, CURLING'S, and the Venereal Hospital Practice, of Paris and London, by Dr. LARMONT. As some persons afflicted with Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Strictures, Primary and Constitutional Syphilis, Nervous Debility, Seminal Emissions, Impotency, &c., may not be aware of the fact, he takes this medium of informing them that he is the only graduate in this City who is exclusively treating and curing those diseases, and whose connection with the European hospitals enables him to adopt the latest and most radical treatment, curing the oldest and most severe cases, at No. 82 Mercer-st., corner of Spring, opposite St. Nicholas Hotel, from 10 A. M. till 9 P. M., except Sundays, unless by appointment. The Doctor's MEDICAL ADVISER AND MARRIAGE GUIDE, nearly 400 pages, 100 picture illustrations, is $1. Sold and mailed, also, by J. W. JUDD, No. 222 Broadway, New-York. It gives the advertised medicines, and should be seen by the married, single and the afflicted, before adopting any treatment, as it fully exposes the charlatans infesting this and other cities.
We commend Dr. LARMONT to the afflicted.—Courrier des Etats Unis, Staats Zeitung, Day Book, Atlas, &c.

DR. MAGNIN'S LUCINA CORDIAL OR ELIXIR OF LOVE.—This delightful and positive invigorant of the human system is fast superseding all other remedies; in fact, when its virtues become fully known, it will be the only remedy in use. Its action on the nervous system and reproductive organs is most extraordinary, allaying all over-excitement, and infusing into the nervous organization that degree of tension which is requisite to give the human system the enjoyment of its full powers, both mentally and physically. As an appetizer it is equally remarkable; assimilated with the gastric juices of the stomach, it assists them in more readily dissolving all nutritious substances, and converting them into pure and wholesome blood; thus the digestion is improved, and the whole framework of man moves on in a more vigorous and harmonious manner thereby. Price $3 per bottle, or two bottles for $5. Principal office No. 203 Fulton-st., New-York. DR. MAGNIN.

$500 REWARD.—DR. JEFFRIES' ANTIDOTE, a specific mixture for the cure of gonorrhœa, gleet, strictures, and similar disorders. It makes a speedy cure without the least restriction of diet, drink, exposure, or change in application to business. Further, the disease cannot be contracted if a dose of the Antidote is taken when exposed. Repeated experiments and long experience have proved that it will radically cure any case which can be produced. Price $1 per bottle. C. H. RING, General Agent, No. 192 Broadway, New-York.
Sold by C. G. GREEN, southeast corner of Atlantic and Henry sts., Brooklyn; COLLENDER & CO., Philadelphia; REDDING & CO., Boston; W. L. JENISON, Albany.

DR. WARD, NO. 486 BROADWAY—PERforms the only permanent cure of private diseases. Sure cure, his Unfortunate's friend, and other remedies, price $1. Remember, all you afflicted, that by calling on Dr. WARD you may, in a few days, feel that Richard is himself again. Female diseases successfully treated. His Monthly Pills, $1 per box, never fail of effect intended. Office No. 486 Broadway, second floor; perfectly private, and so arranged that patients never meet. No charge for consultations. Afflicted, call without delay. Attendance till 10 P. M.

$500 REWARD.—CROSSMAN'S SPECIFIC MIXTURE.—Of all remedies yet discovered this is the most certain. It makes a speedy and permanent cure, without the least restriction in diet, drink or exposure, or change in application to business. Many are cured in two days. Sold at the drug stores, Nos. 373 Broadway, corner of Chambers-st.; also at No. 10 Astor House, No. 107 Broadway, No. 100 Fulton-st., corner of William.

DR. RALPH, AUTHOR OF THE PRACTICAL Private Treatise on venereal and other diseases and abuses of the sexual system. Offices No. 52 Bleecker-st., corner of Wesley-place, two blocks east of Broadway.
Patients applying in the earliest stage of disease will be surprised at their immediate and convenient cure; but especially in chronic cases, as Stricture, Gleet, Emissions, Impotence, and cases that have been thought incurable, his services are most appreciated.

IMPORTANT TO FEMALES.—DISEASES OF females exclusively treated by Dr. DUBOIS. Remedies for female derangements from $1 to $5. Relief guaranteed in all cases. Consultation and letters strictly confidential. Patients from a distance provided with board, nursing and exclusive attendance. Medicines sent by mail. Ladies' private circulars sent per letter free, except postage. Office No. 98 West 24th-st., New-York.

DR. COOPER, NO. 14 DUANE-STREET, may be consulted on all diseases of a private nature; 26 years exclusively devoted to the treatment of secret diseases, enables him to warrant a cure in all cases undertaken. The victims of misplaced confidence who have been misled by quack advertisements, can call on Dr. C. with the certainty of being radically cured.

ALLSOP'S CELEBRATED ALE.—FAMILIES can be supplied at their residences with this delightful tonic beverage, in kegs of 3, 5 or 10 gallons each from the Ale and Wine Vaults, No. 18 Wall-st.
Samples on draught. G. E. MENDUM.

M. HARRIS, THE BEST MEDICAL AND Business Clairvoyance in the City. Diseases cured, if curable; absent friends found; lost articles traced. Office No. 80 West 19th-st., near 6th-av. Hours, 9 A. M. to 9 P. M.

THE OLIVE FEVER AND AGUE PILLS.—The subscribers can now furnish this celebrated remedy to druggists at the lowest wholesale prices.
BARNES & PARK, No. 13 Park-row.

HUNDREDS OF THE UNFORNUNATE
ARE DISAPPOINTED OF A CURE BY NOT CALLING ON DR. HUNTER AT FIRST,
THE HUNTERIAN DISPENSARY,
NO. 3 DIVISION-STREET, NEW-YORK CITY,
ESTABLISHED IN 1834,
FOR THE PRESERVATION OF HUMAN LIFE.
PRIVATE CONSULTATION—DR. HUNTER
Has, for thirty years, confined his attention to diseases of a certain class, in which he has treated not less than fifty thousand cases without an instance of failure. His great remedy, HUNTER'S RED DROP, cures certain diseases when regular treatment and all other remedies fail; cures without dieting or restriction in the habits of the patient; cures without the disgusting and sickening effects of all other remedies; cures in new cases in less than six hours; cures without the dreadful consequent effect of mercury, but possesses the peculiarly valuable property of annihilating the rank and poisonous taint the blood is sure to absorb unless this remedy is used. It is $1 a vial, and cannot be obtained genuine anywhere but at the old office, No. 3 Division-st. Book for nothing.

OCULISTS.

NO IRREPARABLE LOSS BY THE FIRE.—The samples of Artificial Human Eyes, of all shades of colors and sizes deposited in the Chrystal Palace for inspection, by Mr. THOMAS DAVIS, of No. 483 Broadway, (all his own manufacture,) having been destroyed, he invites the public and the profession to inspect those at his office, No. 483 Broadway, New-York.

PROPOSALS.

TO CONTRACTORS.—SEALED PROPOSALS will be received at the City Surveyor's Office, Hoboken, for building a Sewer in Washington-street, Hoboken, from a southerly line of Sixth-street to Newark-street, and thence easterly to the Hudson River, together with the necessary man holes, receiving basins, &c., according to plans and specifications made by W. W. Shippen, City Surveyor. The plans and specifications can be seen at the City Surveyor's office, on and after the 11th inst. Proposals will be received to Oct. 4 inst., inclusive, and will be opened in public in the Council Chamber on the evening of Oct. 4. The time for receiving the above proposals is extended to the 11th day of October, on the evening of which day they will be opened in presence of the public.

OFFICE OF THE GOVERNORS OF THE ALMSHOUSE, Oct. 5, 1858.
PROPOSALS.—BRICK.—SEALED PROPOSALS will be received by the Governors of the Almshouse, at their Office, Rotunda, Park, until 12 o'clock M. of the 16th inst., for furnishing and delivering on Blackwell's Island such quantities of best quality of North River Hard Brick, as may be required for and in the erection of the Island Hospital. For further information, apply at their office, where blank-form proposals can be obtained.

NEW-YORK CITY.

Turkish Government Notes, for a Large Amount, Counterfeited in this City—A Curious Story—The Printer of the Notes Arrested—He is Discharged by the Mayor.

A most extraordinary counterfeiting case was revealed Thursday at the Mayor's Office, by the Consul for the Ottoman Porte, in this City. The following affidavit, made by him, contains nearly the whole story:

City and County of New-York, ss.—J. Hosford Smith, Consul for the Ottoman Porte, in the City of New-York, being duly sworn, deposes and says—That he has received a dispatch from the Ottoman Government through the Turkish Minister in London, stating that Mrs. Sevasti, a Moldavian, has arrived at Constantinople from England, with a considerable quantity of "caimes," or paper money, consisting of 600,000 pieces of paper money, of 20 piastres each; and that said Mrs. Sevasti has, during a judicial proceeding or investigation, made before the Minister of Police, stated that she, under the assumed name of Madame Zaifmen, had caused the said "caimes," or paper money, to be printed in the City of New-York, by a certain —— Harrison, a book-printer in New-York, at Duane-street, No. 82. That she had taken away four plates, in order to print the imperial "toughra," or signature of the Sultan and seal for the reverse of the "caimes," and that there remain beside sixteen pieces of each of these plates in the magazine of the above-named printer, and in his possession; as well as the torn and dirty "caimes," among those which she has caused to be made. And deponent further says, that he has full reliance in the authenticity of the information thus conveyed; and he believes that the said "caimes," and the plates for printing them, or some part thereof, are now concealed on the premises, or in possession of the said —— Harrison, at No. 82 Duane-street, in the Sixth Ward of the City of New-York, and deponent further says that the said "caimes" are paper money, issued by and under the direction of the Turkish Government, and that they circulate as money therein, and he belives that the said —— Harrison has printed the same with the intent to deceive and defraud, and that the same should be altered and disposed of with a fraudulent design. Deponent prays that the said —— Harrison may be arrested, and that a search warrant be issued to seize on the said plates and counterfeit "caimes," which he has reason to believe, and does believe, are on the premises of the said —— Harrison, at No. 82 Duane-street.

J. HOSFORD SMITH, Ottoman Consul.
Sworn to before me this 7th day of October, 1858.
DANIEL F. TIEMANN, Mayor.

Mrs. Sevasti, it is said, had circulated about $40,000 worth of this money in Constantinople, without exciting suspicion. She was about to leave for another part of the country to renew her operations when the size of her traveling trunks excited the curiosity of the Police, who imperatively insisted upon looking at the mammoth "hoops." They found in them a large quantity of the spurious money, and suspecting her extensive dress, they pushed their researches in that direction, and found another pile sewed up in her skirts and in the folds of her outer garment. She was, of course, closely questioned, and confessed the whole affair. The Turkish Government thereupon lodged information against Mr. Harrison as the printer of the notes. She arrived in this City about a year ago, and put up at the St. Nicholas Hotel under the assumed name of Madam Gardiner. It is not known if she was accompanied here by any person, but after a short stay at the above hotel she changed her quarters to a private boarding-house in the upper part of the City.

Early last Spring she called upon Mr. Wm. L. S. Harrison, a printer, doing business at No. 82 Duane-street, and desired to know what he would print a certain amount of labels for, and obtain the plates, &c., necessary for the printing. Mr. Harrison informed her of his price, when she left; but in a few days after she again called, and ordered four dozen of electrotype plates to be made, representing a very curious-looking label, which appears to have been a copy of a Turkish bill, with various Arabic letters in the centre and around the edges. Mr. Harrison thought them to be a label for some Chinese invention, and did not for one moment hesitate to accept the job. He accordingly agreed to have the plates manufactured at the earliest moment. An arrangement was then made that Mr. Harrison should prin 600,000 copies, at one dollar a thousand, and that they should be done within a certain given time. The work was accordingly finished, and all delivered, with the exception of about one-quarter of the bills, which, together with the plates, were left in Mr. Harrison's care, until they should be called for by Mrs. Sevasti. Nothing further was heard of this woman by Mr. Harrison until Thursday, when, about 2 o'clock in the afternoon, he was surprised by the entrance of Sergeant Birney, Acting-Sergeant Thos. Sampson, and officers Busteed, Blackwell, Hilliard, Horrigan, Neais, Fowler, Armstrong and Freeman, of the Mayor's squad, with a warrant to seize all found in the place. Mr. Harrison protested his innocence of all criminal intent, and last evening sent us the following

CARD TO THE PUBLIC.

The undersigned desires to state, in reference to the charge made by the Turkish Consul, of printing "caimes" or paper money such as is issued by the Turkish Government, that he is entirelv and absolutely innocent of any criminal knowledge or intent in the whole matter, not having entertained the remotest suspicion, at the time the job was done, or since, that the printing which he executed could be put to any illegal use. The job came to his office apparently in the regular course of business. The woman, being a stranger to him, was told the rule of the office, requiring from strangers a reference or an advance payment; she chose the latter alternative, and the job was put in hand, and executed as soon as it could conveniently be done. The "labels," as she called them, and which he supposed were to be used on some nostrum or article of commerce of Eastern origin, from there being Chinese characters upon them, were printed from the ordinary stereotype and electrotype plates used by all job printers in their business. The wood engraving was made by Mr. J. W. Orr, who does all the subscriber's engraving—the plates were electrotyped where he has all that kind of work done—the paper was made by dealers from whom he purchases largely, and the job was printed openly in his office, in the view of strangers, visitors and customers, having been on the press some fifteen days, and seen during that time by hundreds of persons—no concealment or secrecy, nor the slightest attempt at privacy made by him, from the moment he made the bargain until the job was delivered at the Astor House. Indeed, so little did the undersigned suppose he had been doing anything wrong or illegal in printing this job; that these "labels," which now prove to be Turkish paper money, have been lying loose around his office since July last; and a large quantity of them, which the office boys had been using as waste paper, were on a shelf in full view of the officer when he came to make the arrest. The electrotype plates also were in the cupboard with the plates of all his other customers. There is nothing in the appearance of these "labels" to lead any one to suspect that they could be used as paper money. They are about the size of the printed paper that comes on a pack of Chinese firecrackers, and are partly covered with similar characters.

To those who know the subscriber personally, any assurance of his entire innocence of any guilty knowledge in the matter he feels is unnecessary; but to strangers, and the public at large, this statement is submitted, to the end that his unsuspicious and innocent connection with the transaction may be correctly understood.

WM. L. S. HARRISON, No. 82 Duane-street.
New-York, Oct. 7, 1858.

Mr. Harrison, with his men and boys, were then taken before the Mayor to answer the charge. He stated to his Honor that on the 1st of July last a lady, who gave her name as Mme. Zaifmen, called at his office to get a job printed. She was evidently a foreigner, speaking the English language very imperfectly. Producing what appeared to be a tinted label, in Arabic characters, she asked him his price for 600,000 copies. He named the amount, and, it being satisfactory, the contract was concluded, and she made the deposit usually required of strangers. The lady was very particular about the paper on which the label was printed—so much so that Mr. Harrison was obliged to have some manufactured to suit her. The job was completed, paid for and sent home on the 23d of July. Mrs. Zaifmen had the sheets packed in trunks, and carted to the Astor House, giving her note for a balance of $300 due on the amount of her bill. Harrison heard nothing further from her until arrested Thursday on a charge of forging Turkish money. The Mayor held him for examination in $1,000. His employes were discharged.

Upon the examination of Mr. Harrison, the Mayor became satisfied that that gentleman were free from all criminality in the matter. Upon his signing an agreement, surrendering all the plates and bogus money to the Ottoman Government, he was discharged. The following is the description of the surrendered plates and counterfeit money.

There are 38 engraved copper-plates, 16 engraved metal seals of the Minister of the Turkish Mint; 18, also, of the Minister of the Treasury, and 20 of the Imperial toughra of the Sultan. There is $400,000 worth of surrendered counterfeit paper currency, being the whole amount of Thursday's seizure. This paper money may be thus described: Each note represents 20 piastres, each piastre being worth four cents of our currency, so each note is equivalent to 80 cents.

Each "caime," or note, is 6 inches long by 4 wide, printed on a peculiar kind of paper, something like rice paper, which Mr. Harrison got manufactured at Bellevue, Jersey, as none like it was to be found in any of the stores. On the face, it is slightly tinged with imperial green, a color which is not allowed to be indiscriminately used in Turkey. At the top is an oval, surrounded by luminous rays, and around the oval is a sentence from the Koran. In the centre is a raised impression of the "toughra," or seal of the Sultan. Then follows in Arabic, "This is a true paper currency to the value of 20 piastres, without interest, being the paper currency of the Ottoman Government." Beneath that is the seal of the mint—at the top, and round the border of the note is, "Twenty piastres of the Ottoman Government, representing its counter value." On the side is thus inscribed, "In specie without interest as an authorized paper currency to the value of 20 piastres." On the bottom, "Its acceptance as specie." On the other side of the border, "Among the inhabitants its circulation being decided in the Imperial treasury."

On the back is nothing more than the seal of the Treasury. There is no date to this, or to any Turkish note, nor any signature with a pen. This money, the Turkish Consul, Mr. Sedroyhen, and Mr. Oscanyon, have pronounced to be a most admirable counterfeit, and one no doubt that would have easily passed in the dominions of the Sublime Porte, and as the Imperial "toughra" at the head of each note, is always held sacred, and is never scrutinized, there is little doubt but that much mischief might have been done before the discovery of the fraud could have come to light. Madame Sevasti, the active participant, if not the originator of this operation, was caught in the following manner: She passed safely from this country to Syra. On landing from the steamer at Syria, she was noted as being very nervous lest due caution should not be observed by the Custom-house officials in handling her baggage, expressing great carefulness about her dresses and about a mattress she had with her. She handed to one of the officers a British sovereign, with a view to induce him to use additional carefulness. This circumstance excited suspicion, and on investigation it was found that the trunks were each provided with a false bottom, and that the mattress was also, together with the trunks, completely crammed with the counterfeit paper, of which six hundred thousand slips were found, making altogether twelve millions of piastres, valued at four million eight hundred thousand dollars of our money. The officials who have presented themselves before the Mayor to-day are unanimous in their impression that had this woman safely passed the Custom-house, the whole amount would almost instantaneously have been in circulation without the fear or almost the possibility of detection, a circumstance which but for her over-anxiety, would undoubtedly have occurred. She was immediately taken before the Grand Vizier at Constantinople, and there, upon confession, stated that the counterfeit money was manufactured in New-York. She is held by the authorities in that city, the punishment upon conviction being fifteen years' imprisonment, instead of as formerly, death. The information was telegraphed to the Turkish Minister in London, who wrote to the Turkish Consul in New-York, and he, on making due application to our Mayor, instantly placed a search warrant in the hands of Sergeant Birney, who, with his accustomed tact and promptitude, lost no time in effecting the seizure.

The following is the document signed by Mr. Harrison, on giving up the plates and paper:

The papers and "caimes" printed by me for Madame Zaifmen having been ascertained to be intended for fraudulent purposes, and the undersigned having been unwittingly used by her in printing the same, he hereby delivers and relinquishes the same to Daniel Tiemann, as a Justice of the Peace and Mayor of the City of New-York, to be handed over to the Turkish Government or to be destroyed.

W. L. S. HARRISON.

Yesterday morning Mr. Harrison appeared before the Mayor, when he was informed that no examination was deemed necessary, the Mayor stating that he was satisfied Mr. Harrison was entirely innocent in his connection with the matter, and that he should discharge him without any further proceedings. His Honor then voluntarily handed Mr. H. the following certificate, remarking that it was due in justice to Mr. Harrison that the public should be made aware of his honorable discharge. We append the certificate:

[COPY.]

Mayor's Office, New-York, Friday, Oct. 8, 1858.

Mr. Harrison having appeared before me, and it appearing to my satisfaction that he had been employed to print the Turkish caimes without any knowledge of their character, and he freely delivering up the plates in his possession to be destroyed with the advice of the District Attorney he is discharged, as free from all suspicion of having knowingly committed any legal offence.

DANL. F. TIEMANN, Mayor.
J. Blunt, District Attorney.

LONG ISLAND.

Kings County Penitentiary—Annual Statement.

The Penitentiary Committee, at the last meeting of the Board of Supervisors, submitted the following report. That there has been expended for Penitentiary purposes during the year ending July 31, 1857, as follows:

For articles of food	$11,222 12
For clothing	4,919 32
For fuel	2,261 74
For sundries	5,394 50
Food for oxen and keepers' horse	742 50
Salaries of keepers and physician	6,103 75
Board of Keepers	652 99
Extra board of sick	128 88
Labor and materials	9,845 02
Total	$41,370 44

The beef, pork, codfish, bread, white meal, potatoes, beans, rice, coffee, pepper, vinegar, molasses, saleratus, yellow meal, ship stuff, coal, salt, soap, camphene and burning fluid, were purchased by contract. Contracts have been entered into for the same articles for the coming year.

THE PRISONERS.

The number of prisoners confined in the Penitentiary Aug. 1, 1857, was 191—males, 100; females, 91.

Number of prisoners received during the past year 1,517; 1,098 males, 509 females.

Number discharged, 1,336—males, 861; females, 75.

Number of deaths, 1; escapes, 6.

In the Penitentiary, Aug. 3, 1858, 267;—143 males, 124 females.

Average number during the year, 254¼; average number during preceding year, 184½.

THE COST.

The Keeper, his family, and Assistant Keepers are allowed to use of the articles of food purchased for the prisoners; the balance they require (except an allowance of six barrels of flour) is paid for by the Keeper. The number of persons thus using of the prison food is 18, which we consider equal to furnishing a full supply to about 9 persons. Add this number to 284¾, the average number of prisoners, and it gives 263¼ persons provided with food for one year at the cost of $11,105 59, or 11 555-1,000 cents for each person per day.

The whole expense of the establishment for supplies of all kinds, and repairs, exclusive of expenditures on building for new Penitentiary and salaries, was $23,764 59.

The cost of food during the year has been greater than the preceding or than what it will be during the coming one, in consequence of the high price of provisions in August, 1857, when the contracts were entered into.

HOW THE PRISONERS ARE EMPLOYED.

The male prisoners, during the past year, have been employed in getting out stone for the new Penitentiary, and for the stone wall with which it is proposed to inclose its grounds, and assisting in its erection, grading the grounds in its vicinity, breaking stone for macadamizing roads, grading the road leading to the Almshouse, and a road in the village of Flatbush, handling coal at the Almshouse, repairing clothing, shoes, &c. There has been received and paid to the County Treasurer $376 90, for grading a road in the village of Flatbush.

The female prisoners have been employed in making caps and clothing for the convicts, caps for the Alms-house, washing, making and mending garments, &c., but have mainly been kept in idleness. Efforts have been made to procure regular employment for them but without success. This is to be regretted, for their welfare as well as the interests of the County require that some employment should be furnished them, whether remunerative or not.

There is due from the Superintendent of the Poor $75 96 for caps made and furnished the Almshouse.

The yoke of oxen on hand at the beginning of the year, in consequence of being worn out, were sold in September for $225, and a new yoke purchased for $223 80 in their place; an additional yoke being necessary was purchased in April for $239 50. These oxen are necessary to clear the stones from the grounds which the prisoners are grading, and to haul them in the proper place for the wall with which it is proposed to surround the buildings.

We would recommend that the sum of $22,000 be raised by tax for the supply account of the Penitentiary for the coming year. This amount is based upon the expenses of the past year, supposing that the probable increased number of prisoners, from increase of population, will about balance the reduction in expenses arising from the reduced cost of necessaries.

The main buildings and wings of the Penitentiary are now completed with the exception of the pointing of some of the towers, and occupied by convicts. It will be improper to commence the section of the surrounding stone wall, until the grading of the streets in the vicinity is more advanced or completed.

There has been a total expenditure for land and building purposes, as per report of 1857,

of	$190,414 55
Expended during past year	10,116 98
Total	$200,531 53
Deduct cost of land and old buildings	13,355 28
Leaves disbursed for new building	187,175 25
The indebtedness of the supply account is	1,276 02
Of the building account	499 51
Total	$1,77553

Respectfully submitted,
JOHN S. BOGERT,
TEUNIS G. BERGEN, } Committee.
JOHN S. STUDWELL.

The report was accepted, and ordered printed.

Brooklyn Items.

Arrest on Suspicion of Murder—On Thursday night, a sailor, named John McNamee, went into a drinking saloon, at the corner of Navy and York streets, Brooklyn, and demanded a bottle of wine. The woman in attendance refused to furnish it, when he seized an ice-pick and made an attack upon her. Her cries for help brought Officer White, of the Second Precinct, to the spot. He arrested McNamee, and identified him as a man who, a little more than a year ago, was accused of having caused the death of a man named George Seaman, by injuries inflicted at the corner of York-street and Hudson-avenue. It is said that McNamee at that time belonged on board the receiving-ship North Carolina, and the deceased was a laborer in the Navy Yard. They met at the above-named place, when McNamee beat Seaman over the head with a club, breaking his jaw in four places, and injuring him otherwise, so that he died shortly after at a house in Cherry-street, New-York. McNamee escaped at the time, and has not been seen about Brooklyn until arrested Thursday night. He has been committed until such time as the affair can be investigated.

The Brooklyn Water Works.—The Commissioners appointed by the Supreme Court to estimate the value of certain lands taken for canal and conduit purposes, on the line of the water-work, have made the following awards: Joseph S. Wright, $900; Foster Nostrand, $1,000; Wright Pearsall, $1,500; Henry Pearsall, $900; Ezekiel Langdon, $600; and for lands taken for engine-house and force tubes, Frances Mercein, $125; Isaac J. Snedeker, $950; Ann R. Magill, $725.

Stolen Property Recovered.—Officer Colgan, of the Sixth Precinct, Brooklyn, discovered a lot of Russian Hemp in the rope-walk of Lawrence Whitehill, which had been stolen from Messrs. Thursby & Sons. Mr. Whitehill states that he bought the hemp from Edward Hunt, who was in the employ of the owners of the hemp, for 8 cents per pound. The hemp is worth 18 cents. Mr. Whitehill was arrested, and gave bail to appear for examination. Hunt has made his escape.

Accident at Fulton Ferry.—Mr. John Williams, while attempting to leave one of the Fulton Ferry boats, on the Brooklyn side, early yesterday morning, before the boat had been secured, fell between the boat and bridge, by which he had one of his legs badly crushed. He was taken to his residence, on Hunterfly Road, by Officers McBride and Monahan, of the Second Precinct Police.

Political.—The Republican Convention for the Sixth Assembly District, met Thursday evening, and had several ballots for a candidate, without a choice, when the Convention adjourned till Wednesday next. The candidates were Demas Strong, J. M. Stearns and W. A. Cobb.

One thousand persons have received medicine and medical advice at the Central Dispensary during the last three months.

Friday, Oct. 8—P. M.

The particular transactions in Money of which we are advised to-day are at 4 ℔ cent. on Bills due in December and January, (taken at Bank,) 3 ℔ cent. 60-day loans on Government Stock, and 3½@4 ℔ cent., at call, on other Stocks. Lenders are taken somewhat aback by the continued ease of supply and cheapness of rates through the month of October, usually characterized by a decided turn to the active employment of money. The Foreign Exchanges for the packet to-morrow are ⅛ ℔ cent easier than by the last mail. Bank Bills at 109¾@109⅞; mercantile, 109⅛@109½ ℔ cent. on London. The steamer will take about $550,000 in bar gold, part of the late California receipts. The Sub-Treasury received to-day $61,000 from Customs. The net disbursements are $43,976, in excess of this sum, reducing the balance to $10,569,574.

The Stock Market increases in strength. State Securities were largely taken to-day, at a further advance on Virginias, Tennessees and Missouris. The sales, altogether, including some private contracts, exceed $300,000. Next to these, the shares of the New-York Central were in best demand by good buyers, 5,000 shares at 82⅞@83@@83½@83½ ℔ cent., closing 83⅛ bid, 83⅜ asked. The Railway Bond list was also firm on outside orders. Pacific Mail shares were partially influenced by the reported organization of two of the Collins steamers as an opposition line, and the price fell to par, but as nothing further transpired on the subject, the price soon recovered to the point from which it started, 102 ℔ cent. The actual owners of the Baltic and Atlantic, Messrs. Brown Brothers, appear to know nothing of the consummation of the sale referred to, nor is there any present evidence that the reported purchasers have been able to advance any part of the purchase money. Aside from which the service of the two steamers being assigned to the Nicaraguan route, and under the same auspices as the Hermann and Washington, (only one of which vessels, though costing less than a fourth the money, has yet been fitted out,) there would seem to be a want of coherence in the arrangement. We have all along held to the opinion that the Nicaraguan route will soon be reopened, without reference to its effect upon the old-established mail line via Panama. It would be an additional and much-needed, as well as, perhaps, cheaper accommodation to the California emigration and trade. But the fact that it is needed, and that even a weekly, instead of semi-monthly service via Panama will soon be absolutely demanded, is anything but proof that the present stock is to fall short of profitable dividends, unless the aggressive Aspinwall policy of 1853, of killing off all opposition, at any cost, should be unwise resorted to again. Panama shares were 1@1½ ℔ cent. lower, but the sales not important. Reading shares were active, both here, and as we learn by telegraph, in Philadelphia, most of the sales at 49, up to seller 30 days. The shares of Michigan Southern, common and preferred, were firmer and in demand. Rock Island ½@¾ ℔ cent. better than yesterday. Galena and Chicago, and Michigan Central steady. Harlem old shares active at 10½ ℔ cent. Brooklyn City Water Loan advanced to 99½ ℔ cent. Cleveland and Toledo shares recovered to 32 ℔ cent. There was an inquiry for Milwaukee and Mississippi shares at 16 ℔ cent., but none offered. The unsecured bonds of the Erie Company were in better request, though still very low in price, partly in sympathy with the shares, which are neglected again at 15⅞ ℔ cent. The election on Tuesday ought to give a favorable turn to both, as, from the discussion already had, the result will be in consonance with the wishes of a larger body of stock holders than usually vote for Directors. The general market this afternoon closed firm.

We have received several anonymous communications in regard to the Erie Railroad election. Of course we prefer not to continue the discussion in this form.

A verdict was recently rendered in the English Courts against Mr. Joshua Dixon, merchant, Liverpool, (formerly of New-Orleans, and also well known in New-York,) as a managing Director in the bankrupt Liverpool Borough Bank, at the suit of a party who had purchased shares in the Bank on his representations. The verdict created much interest in England, and elicited a leader from the London Times, to which the counsel of Mr. Dixon thus reply:

To the Editor of the Times:

Sir: Our attention has been called to a passage in the leading article of this day's Times upon the affairs of the Liverpool Borough Bank, in which an error of very grave importance is committed in what professes to be a quotation from the draught report proposed by Mr. Dixon to the Directors.

This passage represents Mr. Dixon's report to have stated that the amount required to meet the losses of the Bank, if realized at once, would absorb about 58 ℔ cent. of the capital. What Mr. Dixon's proposed report did state was, that out of the capital of £1,000,000, a sum of £58,000, or somewhat less than 6 ℔ cent. would be absorbed; and the defence rested upon this, that the profits of the Bank during the following year would be sufficient to replace this sum, notwithstanding the payment of the dividend, and that this was perfectly consistent with the statement made in the published report, upon which the action against Mr. Dixon was founded, namely: "That the good current business of the Bank will, in their opinion, be sufficient to admit of the regular continuance of the dividend, without encroaching upon the capital at the same period in the coming year."

There are some other inaccuracies in the article which we do not now notice, but the conclusions you have drawn from the misquotation in question place our client's conduct in so odious a light that we must ask you, in common justice, to give prominent insertion to this correction of the mistake.

The following weekly statement of the Banks in New-Orleans, to Saturday last, October 2, shows a large increase in the line of Deposits, and a corresponding movement in the amount of Exchange held by the banks. The business in Cotton is opening early this season, notwithstanding the prevalence of fever as a violent epidemic. But for this unhappy cause, the activity in the leading staple would have been still more decided:

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the New-York, Providence and Boston Railroad Company, held yesterday, Mr. Mathew Morgan was elected President in the place of Mr. Giles F. Ward, who declined a reëlection.

A pro forma sale, in foreclosure, has been made of the Ohio and Indiana sections of the Wabash Valley Road, in order to carry out the reorganization of the affairs of the Company and to adjust the relative position of the stock and different classes of the bondholders. The New-York Tribune, commenting on this movement, remarks:

"This will enable the Company to reorganize and carry out the plan originally contemplated, and issue new second mortgage bonds to the holders of the present second mortgage bonds, funding also the three past-due coupons on same, which is equal to 10½ ℔ cent. By this arrangement the holders of the floating debt came in for a preferred stock at par; the third mortgage for regular stock at 40 ℔ cent., and the stockholders in the old Company receive stock in the new for 25 ℔ cent. of the amount. With this desirable arrangement of the affairs of the Company, we see no reason why this line should not be among the best in the West. Holders in some cases may not be aware that for each second bond now selling on the market for 50 ℔ cent. flat, they are to receive a new bond for the full amount of it, and in addition another bond for all the back coupons, amounting to $105, with almost a certain prospect from the earnings of the road, that the coupons due Nov. 1 next of 3½ ℔ cent. will be paid."

The quarterly dividend of the Eighth-avenue Railroad is 3 ℔ cent., payable on demand, and of the Sixth-avenue Road 3 ℔ cent, payable Nov. 1.

The following is a comparative statement of the Imports of Foreign Dry Goods at New-York for the week, and since Jan. 1:

For the week.	1856.	1857.	1858.

After the rapid decline in Land Warrants for the past few weeks the market has assumed a much firmer aspect, and considerable activity. Thomson & Co. quote them thus:

	Buying.	Selling.
40 acres	90	100
80 acres	80	85
120 acres	70	75
160 acres	80	85

The Receiver of Taxes will receive the taxes on personal property and real estate at the rate of 7 ℔ cent. for the same.

Railroad Salaries.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

Sir: I notice your strictures upon the management of the New-York and Erie Railroad Company, especially in regard to the high salary paid to their President, and it strikes me that you make that case rather too prominent. With the proper inquiry, you will learn that several other companies are paying nearly as much, and in proportion to their capitals and earnings much more.

For instance, it is said that the little Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad Company is paying its President $15,000 for a portion of his services; and, for an Assistant President, $4,000 more.

The whole amount of salaries and wages, at the New-York office, are said to be some $35,000 to $40,000 per annum, exclusive of the salaries of the General Agent, Superintendent, General Ticket, freight, coal and other agencies at Scranton, said to be some $15,000 to $20,000 more. So, you will see that Mr. Moran is not the most greedy or most unreasonable man, or his Board the most liberal or grateful set of people in the world.

CONSISTENCY.

BANKING AND FINANCIAL ADVERTISEMENTS

☞ SIGHT AND TIME BILLS, on all the Southern cities, purchased by DUNCAN SHERMAN & CO.
Sept. 24, 1858

☞ ERIE RAILROAD UNPAID COUPONS PAST due purchased by THOMPSON BROTHERS, No. 2 Wall-st.

Real Estate....Friday, Oct. 8.

By order of Court, in the case of the St. Nicholas Fire Insurance Company vs. Jas. G. Wilson, et al., Mr. Ludlow sold eight lots on the south side of One Hundred and Seventh-street, 200 feet west of Ninth-avenue, to N. W. Green, for $2,150, or about $269 each.

We learn from Mr. Wm. Fanning, that he paid $8,000 each, and the taxes, say $8,100 each, for the two lots which he lately bought of Mr. D. F. Manice, on the east side of Madison-avenue, 50 feet north of Thirty-first-street. This is probably about the last sale that will be made of lots on Madison-avenue at that price, between Thirty-first and Forty-first-street. This Avenue is now paved with the Belgian pavement up as high as Forty-second-street, and the lots, as a general fact, will hereafter be held at say $9,000 each, for insides.

Mr. Fanning also reports the sale of the only remaining house he has to dispose of, the 25x60-feet house on the south side of Thirty-second-street, No. 2, 100 feet west of Fifth-avenue. Sold for $22,000.
